

Local man charged with arson

Brothers foil fire

by Jeff Nazzaro

A Wilmington man has been charged with arson in connection with a house fire on Woburn Street extinguished just after midnight last Saturday.

John D. Pellerin, of 126 Eames St., was arrested and charged with arson and breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony. The arrest came after Pellerin, 38, was found leaving the burning house and was questioned, according to police. After further investigation, Pellerin was brought back to the Wilmington Police station, questioned further and then charged with the crimes, said Deputy Police Chief Bernard Nally, who added that police have no motive for the alleged crime at this point.

The fire was reported by Police Officer David Bradbury, who while on patrol noticed smoke coming from the house. Within four minutes, firefighters, led by Lt. Ed Bradbury, David's brother, were on the scene and quickly knocked the fire down.

Fire Chief Dan Stewart said two fires, one in the home's living room, and a smaller blaze in the dining room, were going when firefighters arrived. He assessed damage to the home as minor, limited mostly to carpeting and some furniture.

Stewart, who was called to the scene, said a preliminary investigation ruled out electrical malfunction, the presence of flammable liquids or any accidental causes. The most compelling fact that led to immediate suspicions the fire was set, he said, was the presence of two separate fires.

"I believe the fire was set, possibly [because of] a domestic situation," Stewart said, withholding further comment because of the pending criminal case.

The house was vacant at the time of the fire, its single resident having moved out three days prior. Still, Stewart credited the early detection by David Bradbury and the quick response by firefighters under Ed Bradbury with preventing severe damage to the building.

Stewart said the Bradbury brothers worked closely on the scene to determine the suspected cause - arson - and in making the arrest. It is not the first time the siblings have worked together on a suspected arson. Around six months ago, Stewart said, the Bradbury's teamed up on a railroad track arson case and produced an arrest there, too.

Fire department hit by minor fire

by Jeff Nazzaro

A small fire broke out in the boiler room of the Wilmington Fire Department early Saturday morning and was quickly doused with a hand-held extinguisher, Fire Chief Dan Stewart said.

Stewart said the cause of the fire was still undetermined. Minor damage to circuit wiring and the boiler control panel was reported.

For Stewart, whose department tells homeowners and schoolchildren in town repeatedly during safety presentations that fires can happen anywhere at any time, the fire department fire underscores that concern.

"If anything, this can be used to stress that a fire can happen anywhere," Stewart said.

'Cats can't capture The Big One

Huge Wilmington contingent watches North Andover roll, 35-8

by Jamie Pote

A dejected Bob Almeida stood on the grass of Hayes Field after witnessing what was billed by some to be the "Game of the Century" on a cold November Friday night, talking to reporters and trying desperately to swallow his first ever loss as head football coach at Wilmington High School. In the end, he put most of the blame for the loss on himself.

"I should have run out the clock," said Almeida after his team lost 35-8 to North Andover with the loss now leaving the team a slim to none chance of getting to the Division 4-A Super Bowl.

"We thought we found something that we could take advantage of and we thought it would be a good time to do it. We should have stuck to what has been working for us. I knew our strength was not at quarterback - it was our running game. If I had to do it all over again, I would have taken the 8-6 lead into the locker room - I would have run out the clock," Almeida continued.

Almeida was speaking about the game's key turning point, which came with less than a minute to go in the half, the Wildcats leading 8-6 in front of an estimated 5,000 noisy fans. After Rich Gillis swatted away a fourth down pass from North Andover quarterback Alex Tarr (7-13, 64 yards), Wilmington took over on downs with 0:54 seconds left in the half on their own 37-yard line.

Wilmington completely dominated each of the team's first series of play. But after Wilmington marched 72 yards down the field in 11 plays and scored on its first possession of the game, they gained just 57 yards the rest of the night. Of those 57 yards, 10 of them came on Billy Harrison's run up the middle to get a first down at the W 47 on their first play from scrimmage after taking over on downs from Rich Gillis' heads up play.

Now at their own 47 with about 45 seconds left, Almeida said he thought he would take advantage of an NA weakness and he thought this play would be a good opportunity to do so. Quarterback Tim Gillis took the snap and his three steps back and then lofted a high and deep pass that traveled about 28 yards in the air - the pass was one of three interceptions on the day for Gillis - and it was picked off by Tarr, a tremendous two-way player for NA, and the safety ran the ball back to the NA 35.

With 0:36 seconds left on the clock North Andover, now holding the momentum, were looking to grab the lead as well. And they did.

First Tarr completed a 7-yard pass to Sheehan at the left sideline on first down to stop the clock. On second-and-three, Dave DeAmato made a great play knocking a pass away, but he was called for pass interference which gave the Scarlet Knights an automatic first down. On the next play, Tarr (11 carries, 151 yards, two TDs) was forced out of bounds as he rolled out of the pocket looking to pass and he saw daylight for himself as he picked up 12 yards.

Now with 0:15 seconds left in the half and the ball at the W 44, North Andover literally knocked Wilmington out cold. Tarr took his three steps back and found Brian Arkus near the Wilmington sidelines for a gain of 14 ... but, Arkus pitched the ball to Nathan Rennie at the W 30 and Rennie ran the ball in on the tricky, but pretty, hook-and-ladder call.

North Andover never looked back as they took a 14-8 lead as the whistles blew for half time.

"I give North Andover all of the credit, they deserve it - they are a hell of a team," Almeida said. "But, this was not a 35-8 game. If they are better than us, they are not by much - not 35-8. They made the big plays - whenever you thought you stopped them on three plays, they would come up with one long one. It's simple, they made the big plays and we didn't."

Even though both teams were scoreless in the third quarter - whether it was the interception that took the wind out of Wilmington's sails or whether it was North Andover being too strong - North Andover deserved to win and they deserve the credit.

After Wilmington had the big edge in their first possession, the NA offensive line really made a huge difference thereafter as they dominated the Wildcat defensive line.

The Knights defense held Wilmington to consecutive three-and-out series and they intercepted two more passes in Wilmington's four series of the second half. Wilmington was held to just one first down and 46 total yards in the second half, compared to the five first downs and 122 total yards in the first half.

And the North Andover offense added three more TD's - all in the fourth quarter - on a 48-yard keeper from Tarr on fourth down, on a 1-yard run from Tarr and a 68-yard run from Rennie. The last two touchdowns came in the last 2:01 of the game. The game was not a 35-8 game, it was a two touchdown game. Strangely enough, Wilmington came out flying. They held NA to

Local man dies in car fire

A Wilmington native is at the center of a mystery involving his death in Rumney, N.H. Police are still trying to figure out why Gerald DeFilippo, 38, died in his burning car.

Saturday afternoon DeFilippo's car went off the road in Rumney, through a guard rail, hit a pole and down an embankment. A passerby attempted to help DeFilippo but instead was stabbed in the arm.

After stabbing the would-be assistant, police said DeFilippo got back into his car and apparently set it on fire. The Rumney Fire Department took DeFilippo from the car, but he was pronounced dead at a local hospital.

His death is not attributed to the accident, but to the fire.

Police in Rumney say DeFilippo had been a patient at a local hospital and was out visiting relatives with his father earlier in the day.

DeFilippo's funeral will be held Thursday at St. Thomas Church in Wilmington with burial to take place in the Wildwood Cemetery. Funeral arrangements are through the Nichols Funeral Home.

Cobra captured!

By Jeff Gutridge

Several weeks of tranquility came to an abrupt end Wednesday afternoon when fourth grader Jonathon Palazzolo went to reach for his lunch box.

As Jonathon went to grab his lunch off the low-level second shelf in the corner of Jim Coleman's classroom, he couldn't believe his eyes as he looked to the floor.

"There's a snake over here," Jonathon informed his teacher.

Long thought to be dead, the baby Cobra, which had terrified a neighborhood for months, was indeed living and unbelievably inside Robin Hood School.

On August 10, police were notified that Anthony Ferrari, 32, of Rodgers Road, had lost his pet Cobra while sunbathing it on his front lawn. Months of searching, including a thorough inspection of Robin Hood School across the street, had turned up nothing.

Most believed the snake had probably died, but a few snake experts, in the minority, said it was quite possible it could still survive through the recent cold weather. But, for the most part, things had gone back to normal at Robin Hood School.

It now appears the snake had probably avoided the elements by positioning himself in the school's basement.

The snake was probably forced upwards from the basement when the lower floor of the school was fumigated Friday after it was flooded in the recent heavy rains.

At 12:10 p.m. on Wednesday, Sgt. William Surette was dispatched to school on a report that a snake had been found in a classroom.

"As I drove there, I thought it was probably him," said Surette.

Ferrari was called over from across the street and entered the classroom with Surette, who found the 18-inch snake under the molding on the classroom floor.

The officer assisted Ferrari in placing the snake in a recycling box with the use of a long prong.

"There was high tension in that room," said Surette. "It was nerve racking."

Seven Stoneham officers, environmental police and herpetologist Michael Ralbovsky immediately arrived at the scene and placed the venomous snake in a secure container, which itself was a chore.

Surette said the snake was very quick and they had difficulty transferring the Cobra, which was still alive and at the Police Station late Wednesday afternoon. Even a spray from a fire extinguisher had little affect, said Surette.

It's YOUR Money

GIVE AWAY YOUR HOUSE?

Should you give your kids your house to save on estate taxes? Yes, if you do it right. A qualified personal resident trust (QPRT, pronounced "cuepert") provides a vehicle under which a homeowner can move residential property out of the estate to a beneficiary by transferring title to a trust for a certain number of years. At the end of the trust, the property belongs to the beneficiary.

There are double tax savings. Because the trust is set up to run a number of years, the value of the residence—the amount of the gift—is discounted for tax purposes. And the appreciation in value over those years also escapes gift and estate taxation. One important proviso: the donor must outlive the trust, or the full value of the home reverts to the estate.

A loophole in the QPRT rules, closed this summer, once allowed the donor to buy back the property at the end of the trust. Still, the QPRT is a good estate planning tool, and not only for the super-rich.

More for the family and less for taxes? We know how it's done at

WITH GREAT SKILL, herpetologist Michael Ralbovsky handles the Cobra which has frightened a neighborhood since the summer. After the Cobra was found in a classroom, Ralbovsky visited the students to lessen their fears.

(Photos by Ed Apalakis)

The students at the school were reportedly calm as news media from all over the area converged on the school. Cameras were stationed outside the front door as reporters waited for any word from inside. The media was asked not to bother any of the students as they exited the school.

Inside the school, Ralbovsky and Police Chief Eugene Passaro visited with children and informed that the snake had been captured and there was nothing to fear. Ralbovsky spent many days with Robin Hood School children this summer explaining the do's and don'ts if they ever came across the snake.

School Principal Maureen Solely also addressed a group of students in the cafeteria as classes remained in session.

"The teachers and administrators did a nice job of calming the students," said Surette.

The snake was located in a classroom on the right side of the school where the fourth grade and kindergarten classrooms are located. It is the less populated area of the facility.

Ferrari, whose home has been pelted with eggs recently, has still not been charged with any crime even though he did not have a permit for the poisonous snake.

Federal authorities, however, were on the scene Wednesday afternoon and now that the police have evidence that the snake actually exists it is more likely that Ferrari could be charged with transporting a poisonous snake across state lines.

It can happen to anyone

by Stu Neilson

Friday morning the unthinkable happened. There was a fire. A fire can be the most depressing thing in your life.

Everything is gone. Everything.

Fortunately in Wilmington and Tewksbury we have very good fire protection provided by dedicated professionals. There have been a number of fires this year. Most have been caught quickly enough to avoid complete catastrophe. Friday morning's fire was knocked down in seconds.

The quick response time was even quicker than usual, given the fire location—the Wilmington Fire Station. Some extinguishing agents were being stored in the boiler room at the station, the warmth of the burner apparently caused a reaction and a small fire resulted. It was quickly extinguished. Minimal damage resulted.

But what happened here? A fire in the fire station! The firefighters are supposed to be the most fire/safety conscious of us all... and they had a fire! There is a lesson to be learned here.

Chief Stewart has initiated a safety inspection of all public buildings in Wilmington, starting with the fire station. There are dozens of town owned buildings. It will take time. This is in addition the annual inspections conducted by the fire department.

There are over 7,000 buildings in Wilmington they cannot each be inspected by the fire department. Certainly not immediately. You must inspect your own house, today.

Make sure all heating appliances are checked. Have your furnace cleaned. This will save you money, too.

If you are using your fireplace or a wood stove have a chimney sweep check the chimney.

Keep ordinary combustibles away from heat sources.

Replace the batteries in your smoke detectors.

Have a fire extinguisher available Type: ABC.

Be sure electrical circuits not over loaded. Not sure? Call an electrician.

Be sure your house number is visible on your house.

Have an emergency plan for escape, primary and secondary. Then practice it; especially with your children. They do not always make the right decision in dangerous situations.

Designate a meeting place so everyone can be accounted for.

Do not go back in the house until the fire department allows.

"...the thrill of a lifetime"

Dear Larz:

This past summer, 18 13-year-old boys and I experienced a Junior League baseball season that we won't forget for a long time. At this time, I would like to thank all the people who made this possible.

First, to all the past and present board members, who, on their own spare time, have kept the Tewksbury Little League Baseball program going for all these years.

To all the coaches who gave me the talented players to work with, if it wasn't for your teaching and training during the regular season, my job would have been a lot harder. I would also like to thank the past coaches and former players who worked with these kids and coaches during practices. I know I learned a lot about coaching children and the game of baseball from one old coach, Dave Lindsey Sr. ("Mr. National League").

Thank you to all of the parents of the Tewksbury National Juniors, to the mothers for all their assistance during the summer (especially during the week in New York) and to the fathers for their support and understanding.

Thanks, too, to the local newspapers for their great coverage of our long summer.

And... a good manager is only as good as the coaches he has, and I had two great coaches in Derek Anderson and Gary Carlson. Thank you both for your time and hard work.

But most of all I would like to thank, from the bottom of my heart, the 18 young men who gave me the thrill of a lifetime.

For the last three summers, I have been associated with this group of boys. Since they were 11 years old, I have watched them grow into fine young men and great ballplayers. All the hard work they gave me over the six weeks this summer showed their community the kind of baseball the town of Tewksbury has - Pride and Determination.

These young men have made their mark in Tewksbury baseball history!

Thank you all,
Tony Ganchi
Manager

Tewksbury National Juniors

"Fur - a dead investment"

Dear Larz:

With the cold weather approaching, the debate on fur coats takes precedence once again.

The furriers are, however, having a much harder time this year. Increasing numbers of consumers are turning their backs on fur as they become aware of the horrendous suffering and cruelty involved in the trade.

The real price of fur must be measured in deaths, not dollars. For example, one mink coat requires killing at least 55 wild minks or 35 ranch minks; a sable coat requires killing 40 sables and an otter coat requires killing 14 otters.

The "creation" of every fur coat is a product of immense pain and suffering. Animals killed for fur are obtained in one of two ways, either by trapping or from fur ranches. Animals caught in leg-hold traps will endure a slow and excruciating death. Those who have not chewed off their own leg, frozen or bled to death by the time the trapper returns will be strangled or bludgeoned.

These traps also victimize endangered species, domestic pets and children. Fur ranching, no more humane, is characterized by barren cages, isolation, and environmental deprivation so severe that animals often go insane.

Top designers like Giorgio Armani, Donna Karan, Geoffrey Beene and Calvin Klein are excluding furs from their collections. Supermodels like Claudia Schiffer, Kate Moss and Cindy Crawford refuse to model fur. Retailers like Lord & Taylor, Lord & Macys and Macy's no longer carry fur.

Fur is indeed a dead investment. Don't be fooled: there's nothing fashionable or humane about cruelty and pain.

Anyone wishing to donate their furs may do so and receive a tax benefit. For more information, please contact In Defense of Animals, 131 Camino Alto, Suite E, Mill Valley, CA 94941; (415) 388-9641.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marilyn M. Sanford
Tewksbury

Your support helps us go on

Dear Larz:

On May 4, 1996 our lives changed forever. Our beautiful, loving and caring son Danny was killed in a car accident. Seven weeks to the day our other loving son Christopher was also taken from us in another tragic accident.

Yes, we were facing a parent's worse nightmare. Once was enough, but twice? How do loving parents and brothers go on?

It was extremely hard, but we have been able to move forward because of all the love and support our families, friends and the townspeople of Tewksbury have given us.

We want to thank you all for your tremendous support.

Danny's walk-a-thon and his recent golf tournament, along with Christopher's memorial benefit, which was given in his honor by Maggie McKeever's Restaurant, have helped us to keep their spirit alive and memories to live on.

Thank you so much to everyone for your prayers, contributions and constant cards. They have helped us. When you see us we may look like we are doing fine but inside our hearts will never stop aching for Danny and Chris. Please continue to pray for us as we know it is those prayers that allow us to keep a positive attitude towards life.

Again thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey, Barbara (Gillette) Manna,
Michael Gillette, Jonathan &

Wilmington

Selectmen approved a rate of $13.83 per thousand residential tax rate and a commercial/industrial rate of $22.30 per thousand for 1987. The rates for 1986 were $13.70 residential and $21.83, commercial/industrial.

American Legion Commander Ann MacInnis and Senior Vice Commander Dave Peters were pictured as they placed a wreath at the base of the town flagpole during Veterans' Day exercises.

Selectman Chairman Rocco DePasquale announced that Wilmington had joined the Mass. Municipal Assoc. in "Facing the Challenge" of drug and alcohol abuse.

Wilmington's ever present and probably its strangest supporter, Nancy "Don't sweat the small stuff," Clark, then a resident of No. Andover, was pictured flashing her unmistakable smile, at the Veterans' Day observance.

Kristi Dion was among the 4-H members who received County Medal awards at a presentation sponsored by Middlesex Cooperative Extension, a division of UMass, Amherst.

David Hanson of Congress Street, was enrolled in the journeyman electrician preparation course at Coyne Electrical Dept. of Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston.

Charles Russo of Main Street was named to the dean's list at Newbury College.

Elsie Howell was pictured as she delivered an address Veterans' Day dedication of the monument, recognizing World War I and II veterans. The sculpture, seen behind Mrs. Howell (who spearheaded the concerned citizens who led the drive for the monument) was the work of Mico Kaufman.

The Rev. Paul Millin was surprised by friends and relatives who turned up to help celebrate the 20th anniversary of his ordination.

Redmen John Marsh and Dave French were pictured in the middle of the muck and mire at the Billerica football game, a 6-0 victory over Billerica.

The girls youth soccer avenged an earlier loss by turning the tables on a strong Saugus team, emerging victorious with a 1-0 shutout. Much of the credit for the shutout was given to Charlene Cestroni, Jane Carey, Caroline Kondoleon.

ARE YOU PROTECTED?

by Edward H. Wilkens

LOSS EXPOSURE

QUESTION: What risks should business insurance protect against?

ANSWER: Business insurance should cover you for the following: 1) HAZARD: Any condition with the potential for loss or posing a threat to safety. One example is flammable materials. 2) ROBBERY: Taking property by force. 3) BURGLARY: Unlawful breaking into a locked building. 4) BUSINESS INTERRUPTION: When a firm has to shut down temporarily because of heavy damage to buildings or loss of key personnel. 5) EXTRA EXPENSES: Any additional cost beyond your normal business expenses caused by a loss of some kind. Your policy should be customized for YOU!

YOUR BUSINESS insurance package should be customized for YOUR particular operation.

Tech offers dining, beauty and more

Healthy entrees, international menus, whole grain bread, haircuts and pedicures are among the items area residents can enjoy at Shawsheen Tech. Students studying service occupations such as culinary arts, baking and cosmetology operate programs for the public to gain real world experience.

The Ram's Head Dining Room is open on school days, serving lunch in two seatings, at 11:30 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. In addition to the traditional favorites patrons return from year to year, the staff and students plan to add an all you can eat buffet once a month. This is tentatively set for the last Friday of each month. Healthy entree choices and international menus will be featured more often.

"We have more students in the program this year," said Chef Instructor Joseph Williams. "A growing population of students means we will be able to offer more intricate and varied choices and increase the number of international days." Call 508-667-2111, ext. 125 at 9:30 a.m. for advance or same day reservations.

Before lunch, residents are invited to enjoy a permanent wave, hair color, a facial or a pedicure in the student operated beauty salon. Appointments are scheduled between 7:45 a.m. and 12:45 p.m., with permanents and colors early in the day.

"We are open for business, and things are looking better every day," says Instructor Carlo Barotta of the newly renovated area. Renovations are nearly complete, with new furniture, equipment, mirrors, flooring and wall covering adding very pleasant surroundings, the teacher added.

Prices for all services remain "reasonable school prices," says Barotta. New this year are pedicures, a complement to the popular manicures and facials.

Just across the hall, wafting irresistible aromas is the student staffed bakery, open on school days from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and featuring a myriad of baked goods, including pastries, bread and rolls, cakes, pies and more. All items are fresh. A newer line of baked goods includes finger pastries, whole grain breads and soon to come, low fat muffins.

In house services provide real world education to students to supplement their academic and laboratory experiences. The public is encouraged and welcome to be part of the process by patronizing the facilities.

Aruda marches into Nutcracker

Amalia Aruda, a student at Wilmington's Woburn Street School will be among the more than 450 young dancers from the greater Metropolitan Boston area and adjoining states who will perform as toy soldiers, angels, cherubs, dolls, baby mice, reindeer, lambs, polichinelles and party children in Boston Ballet's production of The Nutcracker at the Wang Center for the Performing Arts, November 29, 1996 through January 5, 1997.

Amalia is in Cast A, and will perform as a soldier November 29 through December 7.

Performing in a full length ballet exposes students to aspects of ballet life they don't experience in regular ballet classes. All children performing in the Nutcracker are students of Boston Ballet School, where Amalia has been studying for two years.

Tickets for The Nutcracker are available by calling Ticketmaster at 931-ARTS, or in person at the Wang Center Box Office, 270 Tremont St., Boston Monday through Saturday, 109 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Wilmington supports Tierney, Clinton, Miceli

by Jeff Nazzaro

Seventy-five percent of Wilmington's registered voters threw their two cents into Tuesday's election of one president, a U.S. Senator, a U.S. Representative, a couple of state representatives, a fifth district councillor and four county officials.

Nowhere were those pennies counted more closely than in the race in the sixth congressional district pitting incumbent Republican Rep. Peter Torkildsen of Danvers and Democrat John Tierney of Salem. Two years ago, Tierney came within three percent of unseating the then freshman congressman. The rematch was closer, with Tierney winning by an unofficial 223 votes. Sources say Torkildsen will call for a recount. Wilmington voters backed Tierney by the slim margin of 576 votes. The Democrat tallied 4,551 votes or 51 percent to Torkildsen's 3,975 votes, which were good for 45 percent. Four other candidates combined for 383 votes.

Tierney benefited in Wilmington, a town he did not carry two years ago, from the coattails of President Bill Clinton, who in racking up 60 percent of the vote statewide, received 58 percent support from Wilmington voters. The Bob Dole-Jack Kemp ticket garnered 30 percent of the vote in town while Ross Perot's Reform Party ticket generated tallies from just over 1,000 Wilmington voters, or 11 percent.

Wilmington as a town voted a straight Democratic ticket with one exception, that in the senatorial race, where voters backed

Gov. William Weld, albeit by the slim margin of less than 300 votes. It wasn't enough, however, as Sen. John Kerry won reelection to a third term with 52 percent of the vote.

The race for state rep in Wilmington and Tewksbury was not expected to be close and wasn't: Rep. Jim Miceli cruised over Republican challenger Al Meegan of Wilmington, gaining close to 80 percent of the vote in both towns. Miceli beat Meegan by 3,695 votes in Wilmington and 5,846 votes in Tewksbury.

In a close race to replace Democratic Rep. Marianne Brenton (Wilmington Precinct 3) Democrat Charles Murphy of Burlington prevailed over Republican George Judge, also of Burlington. Overall, Murphy collected 9,103 votes to Judge's 8,816. In Wilmington, the margin was just 121 votes, 751 for Murphy, 630 for Judge.

For Middlesex County Sheriff, it appears Malden Democrat James DiPaola has won a narrow victory over the appointed Brad Bailey, a Republican from Winchester. In Wilmington, DiPaola carried 47 percent of the vote to Bailey's 41 percent.

Wilmington also got behind ballot initiative Question 1, 4,145 voters in favor to 2,554 opposed. The initiative, which will eliminate leghold traps and bear hounding, as well as remove restrictions for serving on the state fisheries and wildlife board, passed easily statewide.

In all, 9,569 Wilmington voters made it to the polls.

Home Health Aide course

Winchester Hospital offers a Home Health Aide course that, upon completion, will certify you by the Hospital. You will learn the skills necessary to care for patients in their home including personal care techniques, home safety and nutrition.

Both day and evening classes are available. Evening classes take place Nov. 4-27 from 5:15 to 9:30. All classes are held at Baldwin Park I located on 12 Alfred St., Woburn.

Also, Winchester Home Care is offering tuition reimbursement to qualified candidates. Call the Community Health Institute at 617-756-4700 for more information and preregistration.

International Student Exchange seeks host families

International Student Exchange (ISE) is seeking host families for foreign exchange students soon to be arriving for the second semester (January) programs.

ISE is a designated United States Information Agency (USIA) program and is listed by the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIET), certifying that ISE complies with the standards set forth for International Educational Travel Programs.

ISE is presently seeking host families for students from a number of different countries. Students between the ages of 15 and 18 are carefully screened for suitability. They bring their own spending money and are covered by health insurance. These students speak English and are anxious to share their native culture with an American family.

Those interested are urged to call 1-800-233-4678.

Wilmington can't hold off Knight charge

a three-and-out series and they took possession of the ball with 7:58 left in the first quarter and they didn't give it back until 2:33 remained in the first.

Wilmington gained 72 yards on 11 plays thanks to Billy Harrison (18-76) and Sean Kerrigan (9-78). Most of the gains came off Wilmington's right tackle (Mike O'Toole) as he left several big holes for the two backs.

Kerrigan started the drive off with gains of 20 and 14 yards. Harrison added the next two of 2 and 3, then Kerrigan gained 2 more to set-up a fourth-and-three situation at the NA 41. Harrison took a pitch and he gained 11 more. Kerrigan went up the middle to continue the drive and Harrison tacked on another 5 before an illegal procedure penalty pushed the ball back to the NA 18. Kerrigan once again was called upon and he gained 6 and Harrison finished the drive off with a 1-yard gain and then a 16-yarder which was good for his 11th TD of the season.

Kerrigan impressively got the two-point conversion, when he spun around, jumped over, avoided and pushed off many North Andover defenders as he started out going to the right and ended up in the left end of the end zone.

Brian Mason then crushed Tarr on his 18-yard kick-off return, but Tarr got his revenge when he set-up a 5-yard Rennie TD on a 55-yard keeper run just two plays after Harrison's score. Rennie found the end zone for the first of three times on the evening just one play after Tarr's exciting run and just 1:18 after Wilmington's TD.

Thereafter on offense, Wilmington went three-and-out; gained 50 yards on eight plays but was forced to turn the ball over on downs when a wide-open Jamie Campbell was overthrown and they finished the first half off with the fatal interception. Thus, Wilmington ran 15 plays in the first quarter - and 24 combined in the last three quarters.

Almeida and the rest of the team should not hang their heads. True, they didn't have the best game when they needed to and true, their hopes of going to the Big Dance are pretty much dead, but there are three games left and a possible 10-1 record is not too shabby.

International Student Exchange

Until only a few years ago, only a handful of high school students could afford to spend a school year or summer abroad. Now, ASSE has changed all that.

Students 15 to 18 years old, qualify on the basis of academic performance, character references and a genuine desire to experience life abroad, with a volunteer host family in Europe, Canada, Japan, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, Brazil or Mexico.

ASSE families abroad are carefully screened to provide a caring environment in which students can learn the language and culture of their host country. Summer exchange students live with a family abroad who usually speaks some English. Year students need not have learned a foreign language as they receive language and cultural instruction as part of the ASSE program. They attend regular high school classes along with their new teenage friends. ASSE exchange students learn by living the language and culture of their new host country.

Brennick named Chamber's "Member of the Year"

The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) has always been an active member of the Reading Chamber of Commerce. Recently, the Chamber recognized this involvement by naming Ann Marie Brennick, Communications Coordinator for the RMLD and the department's representative to the Chamber's Board of Directors, as its "Member of the Year." In addition to this honor, the Chamber has also elected Ms. Brennick to the position of vice president of the organization.

"We congratulate Ann Marie Brennick for the honors she has received from her colleagues in the Reading Chamber of Commerce," RMLD General Manager Len Rucker said. "The RMLD takes pride in the day-to-day services that our employees provide, not only to our customers, but to community organizations in the four member towns. The RMLD is committed to these communities through involvement in organizations like the Chamber of Commerce."

Ms. Brennick has been associated with the RMLD since 1989 when she joined the Department as a clerk in the Data Entry Department. She later worked as a clerk in the Accounting Department and most recently worked as an energy analyst prior to being named communications coordinator in 1995. She is currently pursuing a degree in communications at Regis College.

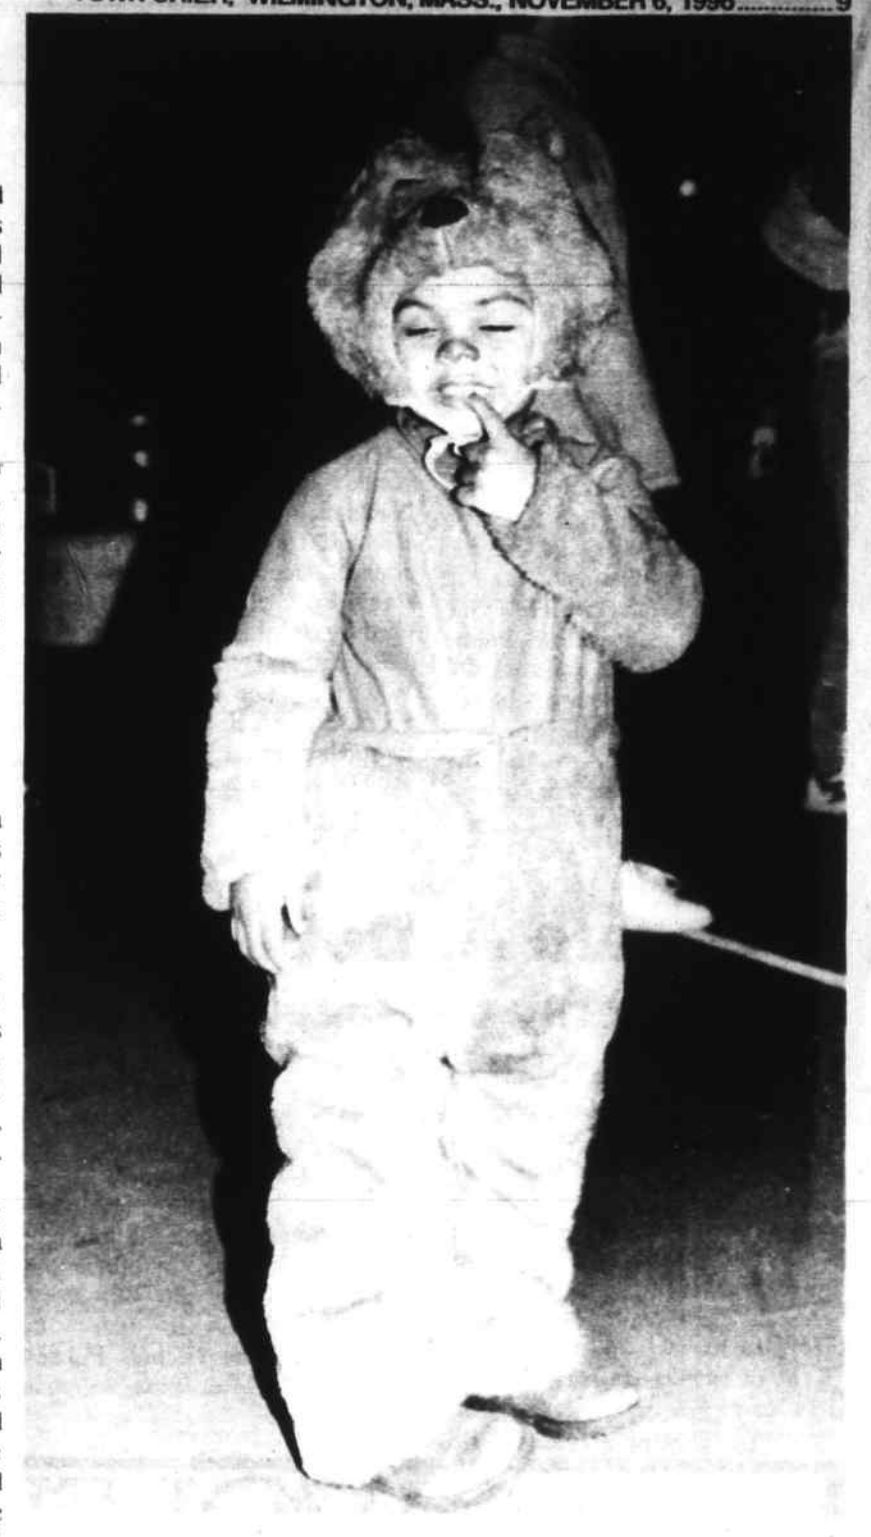

Active within the RMLD, Ms.

Brennick has served as Public Power Week Coordinator for the last several years. She also represents the RMLD as a member of the Board of Directors of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Rotary Club of Lynnfield.

She has also coordinated energy awareness programs for school children, including the popular t-shirt art contest, and has promoted energy awareness and energy conservation among older residents of the RMLD's four member communities. Additionally, she has conducted tours for local youth groups of the RMLD's 230 Ash Street facility.

Ms. Brennick lives in Wilmington with her family.

Wilmington library notes

Resources for investors

The library has recently started to receive Value Line Investment Survey - Expanded Edition. This new investment "advisory service" provides comprehensive coverage of 1800 stocks including many small and mid cap equities. It is a companion to the standard Value Line Investment Survey which is also available in the library's reference section. For those who are interested in mutual funds, Morningstar Mutual Funds is an excellent resource. This biweekly investment service received by the library evaluates current performance of most mutual funds.

Financial newspapers at the library include Barrons, the Dow Jones Business and Financial Weekly and the Wall Street Journal; subscriptions to business and financial magazines include Business Week, Forbes, Fortune, Money, and Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine. The Internet is another resource for investors seeking financial information. A new book at the library on this subject is Investor's Guide to the Net: Making Money Online by Paul B. Farrell.

Local newspaper index

The library has a subject index to the two weekly Wilmington newspapers. This index is prepared by Laurel Toole, Technical Services Librarian who reviews the newspapers and assigns appropriate "subject headings" to major news articles. This index is invaluable in locating information on various local stories of yesterday and today. For the future, it will provide access to information which will become Wilmington's history.

Used book sale ongoing

The library regularly needs to withdraw from its collection, material which is worn, dated or for which there is no longer demand or interest. These books are available for sale on the second floor of the library in the hallway outside the Children's Room. Payment for books may be made at circulation desk in the Children's Room or at the main desk on the first floor.

Quotable facts about America's libraries

The American Library Association Office for Research and Statistics provides the following interesting statistics about libraries: "The nation's reference librarians answer 295 million questions annually. Standing in a single file, those questions would stretch from coast to coast. In 25 years, federal funding for libraries comes to less than the cost of one aircraft carrier (est. $3.5 billion).

Children's Department news Month of the Bear

October was the "Month of the Bear" in the Children's Room. Sharon Ruetenik, Children's Librarian reports that book displays and story times were dedicated to this popular childhood animal. Young readers were encouraged to vote for their favorite literary bear. After slipping their choices into a secret ballot box, children selected a hand stamp featuring Christopher Robin descending the stairs with Pooh, a juggling Jamberry or the Gardening Bear. Twenty one different bears from literature were named including Little Bear, Jesse Bear, and Jamberry and Paddington. Mrs. Ruetenik says "We are proud to announce that the winner is Winnie the Pooh! Congratulations.

Assignment Alerts

Whenever the Children's Department staff receives an "assignment alert," books which have information on the specific topic are placed on "temporary" desk reserve. Since there are a limited number of books on any subject, this provide all students the opportunity to use the material to complete the assignment. For the duration of the assignment, these books cannot be borrowed. Students may take notes or photocopy material from the text.

New books in the library Adult fiction

The Price of Land in Shelby by Laurie Alberts; Black Alley by Mickey Spillane; The Third Twin by Ken Follet; Say you Love Me by Johanna Lindsay; Bed and Breakfast by Lois Battle.

Adult nonfiction

Grave Secrets; a Leading Forensic Expert Reveals the Startling Truth about Sensational Cases by Cyril Wecht; The Sea Hunters, True Adventures with Famous Shipwrecks by Clive Cussler and Craig Dirgo; The Edge of the Unknown, 101 Things you don't Know About Science and No One Else Does by James Trefil; The World of the Celts by Simon James; Low-Fat Living, Skillpower Not Willpower by Robert K. Cooper.

What makes public power special?

○ Customers served by public power utilities like the RMLD pay lower rates than customers of private utilities.

○ The average customer of a public utility pays 40% less for electricity and a commercial and industrial customer pays an average of 30% less.

George Sozio, 82, died Friday evening, November 1, 1996 at the Town and Country Nursing Home in Lowell, where he had been in residence for the past two years. He was the husband of Letitia (Perrone) Sozio, with whom he celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary October 27.

Born in Boston, July 14, 1914, the son of the late Ciriaco and Marietta (Miranda) Sozio, and lived most of his life in East Boston. He moved to North Street in Wilmington in 1964, where he lived until failing health required his move to Town and Country Nursing Home. Until retirement he worked as a machine mechanic at the Polaroid Company and as a resident of Wilmington, he was a parishioner of St. Thomas of Villanova Church.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a daughter and son-in-law, Georgeanne and Charles Stella of Tewksbury; two sisters, Jennie Iorio of East Boston and Santa Sozio of Revere; one brother, Carl Sozio of Revere and three grandchildren, Laura, Patricia and Lecann.

His funeral was held Monday in St. William's Church followed by burial in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

Memorials to the Tribute Fund, Academy of Notre Dame, 180 Middlesex Rd., Tyngsboro, MA 01879 will be appreciated. Arrangements were through the Tewksbury Funeral Home.

Mary E. Denault retired Wilmington Town Treasurer

Mary E. (Hutchings) Denault, 80, of Haverhill, formerly of Wilmington and North Andover, died November 5, 1996 at the Holy Family Medical Center in Methuen.

Mrs. Denault was born in Somerville, the daughter of the late Alfred G. and the late Mary G. (Saunders) Hutchings. She was employed by the Town of Wilmington for 18 years and retired in 1977 as the town treasurer.

Mrs. Denault is survived by her husband Noah F. Denault; her children Richard N. and his wife Roberta both of No. Andover, Eleanor M. Denault of Tewksbury and Dennis F. of Wilmington.

Her funeral will be held from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home, 374 Main St. (Rt. 38) Wilmington Saturday morning at 8:30 followed by a funeral mass at St. Thomas Church at 9:30. Friends may call at the funeral home, Friday from 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9 p.m. Interment will take place in the family lot, Wildwood Cemetery.

Memorials in her name may be made to the Multiple Sclerosis Society, 101 First Avenue, Suite 6, Waltham, MA 02154.

ST. JUDE NOVENA

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved, and preserved throughout the world now and forever.

Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. Say this prayer 9 times a day (for 9 days), by the 8th day your prayer will be answered.

It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. My prayers have been answered. M.W.

The open house at Shawsheen Tech last week provided Shawsheen Tech student, Dori Gray with the opportunity to present a flag to her history teacher and the Superintendent of Shawsheen Tech. She surprised Mr. Christianson and Mr. Lyons with the flag that had flown over the State House. Carrying the flag is Dick Wilson, from Representative Miceli's office.

Kristy Zajac (kneeling), a senior at Tewksbury High School and Rebecca Bromberg, a senior at Chelmsford High School, will be among the young dancers and professional guest artists in the Academy of Ballet Arts production of the Nutcracker Suite at the McCarthy School, Chelmsford on Saturday, and Sunday, November 16 and 17. Kristy and Rebecca will perform the Spanish Dance.

Sarah Norman, a student at Burke Country Day School in Tewksbury and Kaileigh Michalewicz, a student at the Trahan School in Tewksbury, will also be featured in the performance.

Performances are scheduled for 2 and 7:30 p.m. on Saturday and 3 p.m. on Sunday.

Ready, Willing, Enable

This month's program in the Ready, Willing, Enable! (RWE!) series for this season focuses on young people, featuring resources for and about people with disabilities.

In the first segment, host Alan Langer interviews the CEO of a new company which produces a computer program called the "Ultimate Reader." An on-screen demonstration of the program shows its versatility which allows people with almost all disabilities to access and modify learning materials to suit their reading needs.

The director of Disabilities Awareness Starts Here (DASH) describes this organization which brings to elementary school grades a multi-level program that introduces children to various disabilities, letting them experience the feelings of being disabled as they learn to accept people as themselves.

Olivia the Octopus - a stuffed animal character accompanies her creator to an interview with Alan, who discovers how a program initiated by the Medical Information Group is bringing important medical information to children with the help of stuffed toys.

Ready, Willing, Enable, Inc. presents a new program on disabilities every month on its participating community stations. New stations are always welcome and viewers are encouraged to call the Ready, Willing, Enable! 800 number to request information on content or local availability of the programs: (800) RWE-5656.

Ready, Willing, Enable! a Co-production of Continental Cablevision, Inc. and the not-for-profit organization Ready, Willing, Enable, Inc. is seen locally on the following station and schedule:

WCTV Channel 30 Tuesdays at 5 p.m. and Wednesdays at 1 p.m.

Call the toll free number 1-800-RWE-5656 for more information.

"Our home is in the Lord!"

Wilmington Baptist Fellowship is a new Southern Baptist church led by Daryn and Robyn Marsh of 51 Adams St., Wilmington. This new church is currently holding a weekly Bible study on Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at 51 Adams St., Wilmington.

We are continuing to meet for our weekly Bible study at 51 Adams St. We are now studying The Christian Community. If you would like more information about our Fellowship or about our study and plans to begin our Sunday services, call 658-1588.

New Fellowship Time: Discovery Fellowship every Tuesday night from six to seven. This is a time for those who are not comfortable in a formal study atmosphere. We will look at one piece of scripture and discuss it from your point of view and we will have time to grow new friendships. No commitments are necessary for attendance.

PLANNING THE MOVE

The custom of relying on friends to help make a move from one place to another is gradually being replaced by reliance on professional movers. Professional moving companies offer a wide range of service options. It could cost you less if you pack your things in your own containers. However, some movers will not insure fragile items, such as dishes or glassware, if they didn't pack them. Begin your preparations for the move by calling several companies for estimates. And start early! Some companies want three-to-six weeks advance notice. Ask each company how they compute the charges, how much time they expect the move to take, what kind of insurance coverage they offer against loss or damage. If you have to store your things temporarily, ask them what arrangements can be made. Long-distance movers may send a representative to your home for an estimate, while local companies may quote you an hourly rate over the phone. Be sure to ask the same questions of each company so that when you compare bids you will be using the same criteria.

AMERICAN GUTTER CLEANING CO. (508) 851-6045

Family values are important to you. You make decisions based on how they will affect your loved ones. It follows that you would want your home improvements done by a business that applies the same family values in everything they do.

American Gutter Cleaning Co. is that kind of family run company. Joe Rocha established the American Gutter Cleaning Co over 10 years ago. He and his wife, Carol, run the company, along with their highly trained, reliable, and fully insured staff.

If gutters aren't cleaned at least once or twice a year, you could be increasing the chance of interior water damage to your home. It's important to have your gutters cleaned and inspected for minor damage before the New England snow and ice arrive, and also in the spring after the maples and other trees have dropped their flowers or any remaining leaves.

If you're like most people and don't look forward to climbing up a ladder to do the job yourself, let American Gutter help you keep that ladder in the shed where it belongs. Their service is prompt, and their prices are reasonable; an average house, with aluminum gutters, is $35-$75. If you purchase a Gutter Cleaning Contract, which includes two cleanings per year, you'll enjoy a 10% discount and receive a free gutter inspection. And now, in addition to cleanings, American Gutter will install your new gutters. If you're planning to install 100 ft or more of new gutters, take advantage of their special $50 discount.

To make arrangements and become a valued customer of the American Gutter Cleaning Co., call (508) 851-6045 today! Don't you think it's well worth it?

J & E SERVICES

Automotive Repairs / Snowplowing
619 Rear Main St., Wilmington
(508) 657-7950

If you're like most people, you're not replacing the family car as often as you used to. That may save you the expense of a new car, but having an older car often means more repairs and breakdowns.

J & E Services is a full-service automotive repair shop. Stan Hibbins, the General Manager, opened J & E Services four years ago, but he's been repairing cars for 30 years. At J & E they do the usual tune-ups and oil changes and exhaust systems, plus much more... they'll even rebuild your engine.

"When you take your car into a repair shop, it's easy to spend a lot of money," says Stan. "What gets fixed depends on how much you want to spend. Money is the bottom line."

Stan Hibbins and another mechanic check this car on the lift.

Stan will list and prioritize the repairs that are needed. He won't fix something if you don't want him to, but most of all, he "won't fix what isn't broken."

At J & E, oil changes are $18.95 (plus tax) every day. Their "lifetime exhaust" isn't just a muffler, it's everything from converter to tail pipe. Towing services are available. And, they offer gift certificates - a perfect gift for kids, parents, or anyone with a car!

J & E Services is located at 619 Rear Main St., Wilmington fixed depends on (behind Video Harbor). They're open M, T, Th, F: 8-8; W: 8-6; & Sat: 8-5. After hours, leave a message on the machine!

Marine Corps Ball Saturday, Nov. 9

The Wilmington-Tewksbury Marine Corps League, Detachment 583 will observe the U.S. Marine Corps Birthday by holding a Birthday Ball in Villanova Hall, Saturday, November 9 from 6:30 to 11:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend and urged to call Jim at 508-658-9435 or Joe at 508-658-6211 for ticket information.

Giving Big Brother/ Big Sister a lift

The Big Brothers/Big Sister campaign in Massachusetts is going very well. Many cars have been donated. This unique fund raiser benefits all the Massachusetts Big Brothers/Big Sisters agencies.

Anyone interested in donating a car is invited to call 1-800-859-6526. Big Brothers/Big Sisters will tow the car free of charge regardless of its condition. The 800 number can be called at any time. Pick up of the vehicle will be in just a few days.

Not only do Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Massachusetts benefit from the sale of each car, the person donating the car gets rid of an unwanted vehicle and may also claim a tax deduction for making a charitable contribution. The environment is helped by ridding the area of unsightly polluting cars. Everyone benefits!

To donate a car, call the "Cars for Kids" program at 1-800-859-6526.

Convoy Number USG4

by Capt. Larz Neilson
Officially known as the Master, the Captain is the person who is responsible for the life and safety of every person on board a ship. When he has failed, when there is a disaster the Master sometimes acknowledges fault by "going down with his ship."

The reader may recall the SS Titanic, which struck an iceberg in 1912. The master of that vessel acknowledged his fault by "going down with his ship."

War-time makes a difference. When a torpedo, or enemy shell fire sinks a ship it is not always the fault of the Master. He is entitled, as are his crew members, to save his life if possible.

This writer can name only one shipmaster with whom he had a personal acquaintance, who went down with his ship. Capt. Charles H. McGahan of the SS Montanan was torpedoed in the area of the Persian Gulf, and he went down with his ship.

He blew three whistles as the ship sank, a traditional salute. Unknown to his crew, Capt McGahan did not have long to live. He had cancer.

Serving on the ships of the merchant marine in World War II was a form of suicide. In particular one must think of the ships which were sent to Murmansk, a Russian harbor on the Arctic Ocean, easterly of Norway.

Many American flag vessels were lost in that area. This writer knew of only one ship which returned to the United States. Maybe there were more.

For three months, October, November and December 1942, this writer was ashore in New York, as an assistant to the Port Captain of the company by which he was employed. His job was to visit ships and check details involved in the loadings of the vessels and their cargoes.

More than a few of those ships were loading for Murmansk, generally at a pier in Hoboken, across the Hudson River from New York. In December it was the SS Puerto Rican, commanded by Capt. Ralph Oliver. The Chief Mate was LeRoy Andrew of Lynn, an old time acquaintance.

Two Russian officials were on the pier. There was no doubt as to the destination. Nearly everyone on that pier knew the Puerto Rican was loading for Murmansk.

When the Puerto Rican sailed LeRoy Andrew, as Chief Mate, was on the fore deck. He knew he was "expandable," but he managed to joke.

"What do you say, Larz - do you want to swap jobs?"

The Puerto Rican went to Glasgow, Scotland. Then it went to Iceland. It left that island in Convoy RA53, for Murmansk. It was torpedoed about 100 miles northeast of Iceland.

Seas had been breaking over the vessel. Only one lifeboat could be lowered, and that lifeboat capsized in the heavy seas. Eight crew members were able to swim to the cork life raft.

Of those men only one lived to be rescued. He was a fireman, and he was taken to an Islandic hospital. Both feet were frozen and had to be amputated. He lost many fingers.

This writer happened to be in New York when that fireman got "home."

The story of the Puerto Rican is not that of most of the ships in World War II, but many were lost, as were many members of their crews.

This writer left New York on January 8, 1943 in command of the SS Daniel Boone, a Liberty ship. He had attended a Convoy Conference the day before in an office in lower Manhattan. There were to be 65 ships in the convoy, but not all the captains were present.

The Convoy Commodore, a Commander, U.S. Navy, was a person who did not exhibit much tact. He harangued the shipmasters. The more he harangued the less the shipmasters wanted to listen. No one had a word to say when the convoy conference ended. The Convoy Number was USG4.

That convoy sailed southerly from New York for several days with 65 ships, going to Africa. At the latitude of the Bahama Islands the convoy turned east, to pass to the south of the Azores. There were 13 columns and five ships to a column. The Commodore was in the first ship in Column 7, a tanker. The Vice Commodore and the Rear Commodore were also in tankers. There was a strong northwesterly wind.

When the convoy turned to go east the wind increased in force.

The cargo ships in the convoy all had 3,000 tons of sand in the lower hold. The idea was to ensure that the ship would sit in an upright position, if torpedoed. That would give the men on board an opportunity to lower the lifeboats.

Many of the cargo ships, with 3,000 tons of sand in the lower hold had locomotives on deck. The Daniel Boone and other ships each had two, each weighing 300 tons.

The three tankers, on which the commodores were to be found, had no sand in the lower holds. Sand cannot be mixed with oil.

Nor did they have locomotives on the main deck. Those locomotives very soon turned out to be a major problem, on the Liberty ships. The Daniel Boone and other Liberty ships were having heavy seas breaking over the forward deck.

Messages were sent to the Commodore from many of the ships, telling that man that the ships could not continue. In the late afternoon the Commodore hoisted a "general signal" (to all ships).

"The course is as ordered, and will continue!"

The Chief Mate of the Daniel Boone was a big, affable Irishman from Lowell, Dan Coughlin. He had worked for a few years for the Lowell Sun. That paper had sent Coughlin to Ireland once, to write of that country, which he did in a most pleasant manner.

Coughlin, as Chief Mate, was on watch on the bridge from 4 to 8 p.m. and the same hours in the morning. When he finished his watch at 8 p.m. he went out on the foredeck to inspect the chains and turnbuckles which were holding the locomotives.

At 8 p.m. he came to the Captain's office.

The locomotives, he told the captain, were moving. It would not take much, in those heavy seas, to cause those locomotives to rip off the pads which were holding them onto the deck. That meant the deck would be open to the seas, which were pouring over the Daniel Boone.

The only thing that could be done was to change the steering course of the Daniel Boone and get seamen out there and to tighten up the locomotive turnbuckles.

That meant taking the Daniel Boone out of the convoy, hopefully, for a few minutes. The seamen were soon at work tightening the turnbuckles.

After about 15 minutes the Daniel Boone was ready to rejoin the convoy.

It could not be found. In the dawn nothing was in sight.

In every convoy there was always, each day, a "noon rendezvous" for the next day, if a vessel should be separated from the convoy. The Daniel Boone was at that position at noon.

Not a single ship was in sight.

Nor was any ship to be seen the following day. The only thing left was to tear open the "secret" orders, which every vessel has during a voyage in wartime.

"Go to Casablanca," were the orders. Casablanca is a seaport in Morocco, on the northwest coast of Africa.

This writer felt the best thing to do was to steam to a position 30 miles off the most southerly island in the Azores, and from there go to Casablanca.

That brought the ship's radio operator into the "navigation game."

He was a nice person just out of radio school. He had to be kept advised of the position of the ship, in case he had to signal about an enemy attack.

This writer did not know that he was telling members of the ship's crew the position of the ship. The crew members, of course, were worried about sailing on a ship loaded with thousands of tons of ammunition.

About four days later, at 2 a.m., the captain was on the bridge, about to change the course, to go down toward Casablanca. He stood on the bridge and happened to glance back toward the lifeboats.

A dozen or more crew members were down there, swinging out lifeboats. They thought they could row 30 miles, to that nearest island. They did not realize they could not launch the lifeboat unless the ship had been stopped! They were committing suicide!

This writer picked up a megaphone.

"Go back to your rooms or I will turn the lights on!"

Those men quickly disappeared. Next morning there was a lifeboat drill at which the crew was informed of the facts about launching of lifeboats. They never tried it again.

Four or five days later the Daniel Boone was off Casablanca. A destroyer of the British Royal Navy steamed out, flying the signal "follow me." The next day the Boone was at anchor, off Gibraltar.

Three days were spent there, at anchor. The USG4 was still at sea. A vessel of the Italian Navy was in a Spanish port, and every night or so it would send out a submarine, in attempts to sink the ships outside "Gib." The Boone was supplied with hand grenades by the British boats.

"Throw one overboard, every hour or so!" were the orders.

Not exactly a quiet rest, but no submarines approached the vessels at anchor. After three days USG4 was steaming through the Straits of Gibraltar and the Daniel Boone rejoined.

First Community Development loan closed

Susan Binkoski d/b/a Custom Stitch, 200 Jefferson Road, Wilmington, was the recipient of the first closed loan through the Town of Wilmington's Community Development Program Office.

On October 11, the Town of Wilmington's Community Development Program Office in partnership with the Reading Cooperative Bank closed the loan. Ms. Julieann Lastella Assistant Vice President of the Reading Cooperative Bank represented the bank at the closing and Eileen Marsan, Director of the Town's Community Development Program Office represented the Town at the closing.

Ms. Binkoski, who has been at here current business location for over two years, will use the loan proceeds to increase her product line to include dry cleaning services and improved other services to her customers. Ms. Binkoski said, "my business has grown during the past two years and this loan will allow me to offer a broader range of services to my customers. I am excited and delighted that working with Eileen and Julie together, enabled me to borrow sufficient funds to allow me to offer services my customers need."

The other banking partners in the program are BayBank, Fleet, MassBank, Medford Savings and Lowell Five Cent Savings.

Federal assistance for flooded basements?

Middlesex County has been declared a federal disaster area. This designation makes Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) low interest loans and grants available to individuals and businesses who suffered damage due to the recent rain storms.

Individuals who sustained flooded basements, for example, may be eligible for federal assistance. Available assistance includes emergency food, clothing, shelter and medical assistance, housing assistance, unemployment assistance, tax refunds, deductions and other assistance.

Residents and businesses can call 1-800-462-9029 which is a general "clearinghouse" number. Once the person calls this number they will receive further instruction about what steps to take to apply for assistance.

Equipment registration

All customers in the Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) service territory who have electrically-powered life sustaining equipment in their homes are encouraged to register that equipment with the RMLD.

"The RMLD is in the process of updating this information and will be generating a new computer listing," RMLD General Manager Len Rucker said. "Customers who have previously registered this equipment with the RMLD area asked to reregister, and those who no longer have the equipment can notify us of their status as well."

According to Rucker, the RMLD uses this information in the event of a prolonged power outage. RMLD personnel refer to the information in an effort to alert customers of a prolonged outage and/or to help them prioritize the restoration of individual services after a major area outage.

To register, RMLD customers should send, in writing, a description of the equipment used and any backup power supply and the time capability of that back-up. A doctor's note which identifies the need and use of this equipment should be included with this information. The information can be sent to the RMLD Control Center at 230 Ash Street, Reading, MA 01967.

For more information, contact a Control Center Operator at 617-944-1340 x 237.

Wilmington senior topics

Thanks, candidates

Thanks to all the candidates who attended the Seniors Candidates meeting and the four candidates who could not be there due to other commitments, but sent a member of the campaign to speak. They all did a good job and answered the many questions asked of them. We also thank the seniors who ran the television camera, Jim Durkee, Al and Ann LaValle, Henry Latta for moderating the meeting; Marilyn McCarthy for being the time keeper and all the seniors who attended the meeting.

Veterans' Day

Next Monday is Veterans' Day, a holiday the center will be closed; the minibus and respite car will not be on the road. Please make appointments accordingly. This is a day set aside to honor all men and women who willingly served our country in war and peace to preserve the freedom we all enjoy in America today. Many made the ultimate sacrifice of their life, others wounded in mind and body, fighting wars in battlefields throughout the world. We should say thanks to them on this day, in the best way we can.

The fair

The fair is getting closer and closer. Marilyn is trying to sell all her chance books, before the Fair starts. She has some that have not been sold and others that are out and not paid for. She would be very happy for the return of the money and stubs if you have a book out. The next step for her in making the Fair a success is filling the many tables at the Fair.

To do that, she will need all our help. We are not receiving too many mittens and knitted articles. If the winter months are as cold as last year, the children will need knitted or crocheted mittens, hats, scarves and sweaters. We will all have to return to the kitchen and start baking our favorite goodies for the pastry table. If you are on a sugar or salt free diet and have a favorite nutritious recipe for cakes, pies or puddings, Jean Webster's Nutrition table will be happy if you could take her one of your cakes, pies, puddings or cookies and if possible a copy of the recipe to sell on her table. This year as in other years this is the Senior Citizen Fair. That means we are all involved in the success of the Fair.

The proceeds of the Senior Fair is used as in other years pays for two senior therapeutic social, one senior shut in holiday catered dinner and supplies and replacement articles for all classes and programs.

Next week's classes

Tuesday, Nov. 12 the shop class will be held from 9 a.m. to noon. We have many retired men and women in town sitting home watching television. This class was put together by Joe Filipowicz, a talented wood craftsman. He can take a piece of wood and turn it into a beautiful toy (as you will see at the Senior Fair scheduled for December 7) or a piece of furniture. This is a free class. If you were to take a wood craft class in any school, it would cost a good deal of money. For any man or woman retired and looking for a hobby to keep themselves busy, and meet some new friends this class is highly recommended. We have a well equipped shop with saws of all types, sanders, drills and all types of small tools for your use in the class. All you have to do is come in and join the other seniors in the class, you will be glad you did.

On the same day in the craft room the very popular nutrition class will be held. Under the instruction of Jean Webster from 9 a.m. to noon. Jean will be taking more information to the class on what the best food is for any of us on special diets prescribed by a doctor, or for all of us who want to stay healthy. Jean or a member of the class will take a diet recipe, they enjoy for the other members of the class to taste. Another free class, if taken in a hospital would be very expensive. The reason we can keep it free is Jean is a retired nurse very well versed in nutrition, she is donating her services, allowing us to keep the class free, to anyone who wants to join her class.

Shine volunteers

Wednesday, November 13, Barbara Hooper, our Shine volunteer will be at the center starting at 9 a.m. She will help seniors having problems with a Medicare, Medicaid or HMO bill.

She will be able to answer questions you have on HMOs and private supplement insurance policies, explaining in lay terms the advantages and disadvantages of all policies and HMO coverage.

Sing along

On Wednesday, the 13th also the monthly sing along and bag lunch will be held starting at noon with conversation while eating your lunch in the kitchen; at 1 p.m. you move to the function room to raise your voice in song, accompanied by Dot Phillips at the piano. If anything can push away the little depression we all feel now and then, it's music, songs and laughter. All three you will get as you sing away a few hours next Wednesday.

Craft class

On the same day, from 9 a.m. to noon the Craft Class will be held. Many seniors are busy in the class working on a number of craft articles, to get their table filled at the Fair. Any seniors who would like to learn these crafts, can join any Wednesday morning. Again there is no cost to you in joining this class to learn how to make a craft article.

November 14

Thursday, November 14, our newest class, sewing, knitting and crocheting is held in the craft room from 9 a.m. to noon. In this class you can learn to dress dolls, from top to toe, learn how to knit and crochet mittens, sweaters, hats and scarves. This class is taught by several talented seniors. Very nice seniors who really enjoy teaching their talent to any senior willing to learn. Ann Latta, one of the teachers is making sewing doll, it is a knitted doll equipped with common pins, safety pins, snaps, buttons, needles, measuring tapes, thimble, threads of all colors and scissors. To continue with the dolls, she is asking seniors if they have any small spools of thread never used and small children's scissors that are no longer used if you could donate them to her to finish up some of the doll for the Fair.

On the same Thursday the ceramic class will be held from 9 a.m. to noon. This class is putting together a Christmas Village for the Fair. If you would like to help and start your own Village, drop in on Thursday.

Dan Stewart

Fire Chief Dan Stewart is looking for a senior to help him with his Competitive Traveling Basketball Team. He said you do not have to be a basketball player. He would like to have a senior to help him when the team is traveling to and from games. If you would like to learn more about Dan's needs on this volunteer program he has, call him at his home 657-4223 or Fire Department 658-3346.

Weston, injuries, end exciting girls soccer season

by Jamie Pote

After a terrific four game run - which included over an 100 minute duel with Pope John on Friday - the Wilmington High School girls soccer team simply just ran out of gas on Sunday.

They traveled to Weston on an extremely cold and windy afternoon, and hobbled away with a 3-0 defeat to end its rollercoaster ride of a season. Weston (19-0, seeded number one in Division III), a very good passing team who set-up their offense very well and also had very strong fullbacks, were just too strong for the Cats.

Wilmington down 1-0 at the half, was quickly taken out of the game early in the second when Jill Lojek re-injured her right knee and her replacement, Lynn Hurley, sprained her ankle just two minutes thereafter.

As Lojek and Hurley stood off to the sidelines of play wrapped up in blankets and bandages, they witnessed many of their teammates get bumps and bruises themselves. Even though Weston was a much stronger team, injuries and a lack of aggressiveness eliminated the chances of Wilmington continuing its impressive run for Sue Hendee's young squad.

"It was a great run," Hendee said. "I never thought I would be standing here about a week ago. They are a good team, we made them look better because we didn't go to the ball."

Weston had a good edge in play in the first half and they completely dominated in the second. Wilmington held their own in the first even though they were outshot 13-1. Melissa Mather, the first half goalie for the Cats, played extremely well. She made two outstanding tip saves and two other nice scoop saves as she dove to the ground stopping the potent Weston offense.

Wilmington's lone shot on net came from a direct kick from senior Lindsey Bickford in which the Weston goalie, Abby Kussell scooped up the ball.

Weston made it 2-0 after Meredith Cipriani made an awesome diving save on a labeled shot and the rebound snuck through as her hand was stepped on.

About two minutes later, Lojek playing with a bad bruise on her knee, collided with a Weston player, falling hard to the ground and landing on her bad knee, which unfortunately ended her solid high school soccer career. Hurley then finished off her fine rookie season when she got hurt and Wilmington found themselves with two field players short.

Weston, continuing to dominate, was able to set-up fine offensive plays, moving the ball around. They added another goal with 22 minutes remaining in the game. Wilmington had several scoring chances especially when Amanda Lojek's direct kick was punched out by a leaping Kussell.

After needing to win its last three games to get into the tourney, this team did just that with wins over Hamilton-Wenham, Methuen and Chelmsford.

And on Friday, they faced Pope John in the first round of the tourney and senior Nicole Ciaramaglia's goal in the opening minutes of sudden-death overtime (they played a regular 80 minute game as well as two-10 minute overtime periods and then the 10 minute sudden death) gave the team its first tourney win since 1993.

Late goal ends boys tourney run

by Jamie Pote

As the Wilmington High School boys soccer team made a complete turn around towards the end of its regular season, that late season surge also wiped them out on Friday.

Wilmington lost to Austin Prep in the first round of Division III State Tournament action, by a score of 2-1.

"I was disappointed that we didn't come out with a little more zeal in the beginning," said head coach Dick Scanlon. "But towards the end of the first half, we started to play a lot better. Austin Prep is a good team - they had three of four serious good players. We had our opportunities to tie it up near the end and we didn't. But I'm proud of the guys with what they have accomplished and I'm excited about the future."

After a scoreless first half, Justin Vallas made a beautiful cross pass in front of the Austin net. Somehow the ball got loose and Chris Kilburn tapped it in to make it 1-0. Austin came back with two nice goals in which Timmy Flynn couldn't do anything about.

That was Wilmington's fifth tourney appearance in the last seven years. The team didn't make it in 1992 and 1995.

"I think we left some of our energy in the last three games," Scanlon said. "We have had a lot of problems scoring the past few years and this year Justin Valls had six and Chris Kilburn had seven. If we can them to get in double figures and a couple of other players to score more, than we could have a good team. I'm pleased with the last third of the season - these kids really worked hard and really played well."

Field Hockey team ran into "the curse" again

by Jamie Pote

We have all heard about the "Curse of the Bambino," how about the "Curse of Cassidy?"

For some strange reason, the Wilmington High School field hockey team cannot get over the hump in state tourney games. Jodi MacKenzie's goal with nine minutes left to play on Friday was not enough as Amesbury won 2-1 despite Wilmington dominating the play in the entire second half.

MacKenzie's goal was the first in the past four tourney games for Wilmington.

"I thought we outplayed them the first ten minutes of the game and the entire second half," said head coach Maureen Noone.

"Amesbury is a good team, but we definitely could have had them. We had our chances. I think the difference was they were a hit and run team, while we were waiting for them to make a mistake. I thought we were dribbling the ball a little too much today instead of passing it up."

"It was a good year for us and its unfortunate that it has to end this way - for some reason we can't win the first game - maybe it's the Wilmington curse, I don't know," Noone joked.

For the fourth consecutive year, this program has done really well in the regular season, and they continued to play a tremendous back-and-forth game in the tourney, but for some reason they don't walk away with the victory.

Wilmington has not won a tournament game since former head coach Jan Cassidy roamed the sidelines. In 1993 and '94, under Jan Urquhart, they lost to Ipswich 1-0, and then North Andover 2-0. Now under Noone, the team has lost to Tyngsboro 1-0 in 1995 and now Amesbury, 2-1. And in all but one of those four games, Wilmington played well enough to win.

Not to take anything away from both Urquhart and Noone, who are excellent coaches, it just seems interesting that Noone joked and said it was a "curse".

Anyway, MacKenzie's rebound goal gave Noone and the rest of the team some hope that perhaps "the curse" could be lifted. Wilmington, down 1-0 at the half and 2-0 with 16 minutes left to play, cut the lead in half and was looking for more dramatics like it did the last time they played Amesbury when Christina Peters lit the lamp with ten seconds remaining.

Peters almost did it again. Late in the game, she made a nice rush from the left side of the field. As she tried to pass the ball, an Amesbury defender stopped it, causing a flurry in front of the net and many sticks swinging in every direction. Amesbury was able to get the ball out of its end.

About a minute later, a pass from the right side of the field from MacKenzie had Peters found wide-open in front. But the hard, bouncer went over Peters stick and Wilmington again was victimized.

Speaking of victimized, that was the case in both of Amesbury's goals. The first one was a flurry in front of the net and netminder Patrice Menzoda was screened and she couldn't see where the ball was, therefore Kim Cameron smacked it home on an assist from Nikki LeBlanc.

The same duo hooked upon again early in the second half as LeBlanc sent a cross-pass to Cameron in front who drilled it home at the corner of the net. A pretty goal and absolutely nothing Mendoza could do anything about.

"Patrice played great. There was absolutely nothing she could have done on those goals - they were nice goals. Patrice has been huge for us all year. None of the goals that have been scored on us this year have been her fault. She played outstanding all season long," Noone said.

Indeed, Mendoza and the rest of the team have all played terrific all season long.

Youth Field Hockey action winding down

Wilmington Wildcat Youth Field Hockey action continued this week with several games being played.

The first game saw the White Lightning defeat the Smashing Smurfs by a 4-3 score. Molly Pidgeon netted all four goals for the winners. Molly was assisted on the goals by Christine DeMango, Stephanie Winn, and Krista Wolfe. Also playing well for the White Lightning were Danielle Cormier, Jessica Kelleher, Ashley Veator and Jessica Warren.

The Smashing Smurfs got two goals from Heather Roberts and one from Christina Desimone to keep this game tied until the final minute. Jackie Martin and Judy Weiner assisted on both of Heather Roberts' goals, with Roberts and Brittany Irwin assisting on the goal by Christina Desimone. The Smurfs also got great performances from Lindsay Cirone, Leah DeMaggio, Reggie Paglia, and Sarah Zimmerman.

The next game saw the Leprechauns defeat the Angels in a well played game that was very close until the final minutes. Katelyn Sughrue, Mary Grace Inglesse, and Kim Gillespie got the goals for the Leprechauns. Colleen McMahon picked up an assist as well.

Also playing well were Keri Gillespie, Maryanna Phillips, and Sheri Thresher. Lori Vachon and Lindsey Borseti were terrific in net as well, as they continually thwarted the onslaught unleashed by the Angels.

The Angels got great goaltending by the Dynamic Duo of Kim Thomas and Lynne Gearty. Also playing well for the Angels were Laura Abbott, Danielle Cleary, Michelle Cronin, Lauren Gearty, Dawn Lemke, Amanda Mauriello, Christina Patel, Allea Scifo, and Lauren Todd.

The final game of the week saw Big Blue defeat the Yellow Jackets. Big Blue got its scoring from Katie Catanzano, Kelly Gillis, Janessa Mutchler, and Lauren Whitfield. Assists were garnered by Bethany and Janessa Mutchler.

Big Blue also got top notch jobs from Ann Choi, Kerry Gillis, Sarah Hubbard, Kristen Semmler, and Katie Sullivan. Jackie Rubino was strong in the net, as well, turning back the buzzing Yellow Jackets at every turn.

The Yellow Jackets put up a strong effort, getting good games from Tara Binkowski, Julie Cronin, Amanda Gustin, Kristin Kanter, Kelly McLaughlin, Kim Nadeau, and Ashley Young.

The season will conclude this Sunday with the annual All-Star Games. The All-Star games will be played at Aprile Memorial Field beginning with the sixth grade game at 4 p.m. followed by the seventh grade at 5 p.m., and the eighth grade game at 6 p.m. It should be an exciting conclusion to an exciting season.

Ahhh ... bow season is back again

by Bill Conlon

The Massachusetts bow season is here again, time to journey into the woods in pursuit of the hands-down favorite big-game animal in North America. I love bowhunting.

Some people think hunting with a bow gives the deer a "fair chance," but I disagree. Not even a laser rifle could make the game fair — we're at a whopping disadvantage.

Deer have better eyes, better ears, better noses, and a set of legs that can put them into the next ZIP code in two shakes. They hold all of the cards. The only edge humans have is intelligence, but even that barely makes up for our weak senses, poor natural skills and a foul smell!

Given a choice, I prefer to hunt with a bow. A shotgun has longer range, but the benefits of a bow far outweigh the longer range.

A shotgun is accurate out to 100 yards, at most, while a bow is good to 40 yards. (Yes, I'm sure you can double those ranges, but I refuse. A clean shot is the only good one, but I won't risk a guesswork shot.)

Shotgun or bow, the goal is still a successful ambush, and that means a close-range shot. Bowhunters just need to be a little closer, is all.

Another wonder of archery is the additional places you can hunt. In Tewksbury, and dozens of towns in eastern Massachusetts, shooting is verboten. At least, shooting a gun is illegal. Shooting an arrow is still legal, which opens up thousands of acres of prime deer habitat. Cool.

A bowhunter also gets to dress in camouflage. Not that it matters to the deer, since they're colorblind, but I find it makes a difference to the neighbors. Tewksbury police get a dozen calls a year from folks worried at seeing guys in orange entering the woods, believing they have shotguns. But in camouflage, I don't alarm anybody. Handy.

Another delight in bowhunting is the longer season. Bowhunters get three full weeks in November, to a two-week season for shotgunners. Better still, the archer can continue hunting in the shotgun season, but must dress up in blaze orange and comply with all the shotgun rules. So make it a five-week season with a bow!

Many archers shift to a shotgun when the boom-boom season opens, but not me. I continue bowhunting in this area, but there's nobody left in the woods. That's both good (no distractions) and bad (nobody out there to keep the deer moving).

And to finish frosting the cake, a bowhunter isn't limited to "bucks only" for the first deer. An archer has a built-in "doe permit" for the first deer taken, but the second one must have antlers. No problem. I'm lucky if I see a doe during hunting season. (Heck, I'm lucky if I see a porcupine! My luck stinks.)

But on the down side, bowhunting is lonely. No matter how many set out together, each bowhunter sits alone in the woods. Shotgunners may stroll along in a line abreast, to work a thicket for example, but that doesn't work for archers. We hunt alone.

But that's fine. Hunting alone is good for the spirit. Just you and the woods, listening to each other, with plenty of time to think and dream and admire the natural world.

And, with luck, the sound of footsteps approaching. Shuffling in the leaves. Closer... closer... the heart starts pounding. The senses shift to full alert. Closer... closer...

— Tackle Box —

Emotion won and logic lost in the passage of Question 1 on Tuesday, and if you hunt, fish or trap in this state, your future looks cloudy.

All those ads about "cruel leghold traps" did the trick. Oh, how awful! Imagine my little Fluffy in one of those nasty things! Arguments and logic be damned. Help save Fluffy!

But Question 1 had a lot more to it than simply a ban on traps. (The trapping season began November 1, and the state counted on trappers to clear out 3,000 to 5,000 beaver this year. Now what?)

The fisheries and wildlife board, which manages all wildlife in the state, was just altered. A provision that five members of the board must hold hunting licenses ended on Tuesday. Expect to see pressure brought to bear soon to appoint an animal-rights type to the board, and that's when hunting and fishing are officially started on the slippery slope. An animal rights type, on the board that writes rules for hunting and fishing? Lord help us all.

Mite B's cruise past Salem in fight for first place

Wilmington 11
Salem, N.H. 1

The Wilmington Mite B youth hockey team really showed off its stuff this past week when they clobbered Salem, N.H. 11-1 in a battle of undefeated teams.

Both teams played pretty evenly matched in the first period with Wilmington getting on the board first on a nice flip pass out front by Brad Fraiser to Dana Steenbruggen to put the Cats up by one.

Salem would come right back and was able to notch one as the shot went through a screen of players. That would be all that Steven Stokes would let by as he made several saves to shut the Salem team down the rest of the way.

Wilmington's strong defense kept the pressure on with Keith Irwin stopping the puck at the blue line and took it in alone. Then it would be Mike Earls break up in the Cats zone to take it end to end only to be stopped by Matt Kuehn the Salem netminder the first period would end in a tie 1-1.

The second period saw Danny Tobin catch fire scoring the first of six goals on an individual effort shooting the puck in after being stopped by the Salem goalie three times. The second came on a hard centering pass from Shayne Pellerin. Robby MacKinnon sent Steenbruggen in for second bid but it was stopped by Salem netminder. Tobin picked up his third with a behind the netter making it 4-1.

Wilmington kept the pressure on as Nicholas Yeolmelakis shot the puck on the net through a screen and deflected off the opponents skate. Tobin got his fourth on some good passing by Mike Earls and Derek Flodin. Shane Foley stick handled the puck in to close out the scoring in the second for Wilmington.

The third period went much the same as David Rizzo sent Fraser in only to be picked out of the air by the Salem goalie. Tobin continued his scoring with a solid pass from Flodin. Next to score for the Wildcats was Derek Sullivan faking the goalie left to right on a feed from Chris Stafford. Irwin would send Tobin in on a break away for his sixth as he banged it in on the rebound. Mike Earls would finish off the scoring putting it in upper left side.

The Wilmington Mite B's next game will be their Valley League season opener against Newburyport Bs on Sat., Nov. 9.

Squirt B's open official season

The Wilmington Squirt B youth hockey team played their first two games of the official 96-97 Valley League season and came away with a tie and a loss. The loss was against division powerhouse Wakefield and the tie came after a great last minute goal in a tight 3-3 game with Cape Ann.

Despite a final score of 9-1, the Wildcats played extremely well against a strong Wakefield team. With some excellent end to end play from forwards Edzo Tucker, Bryant Buck, Michael O'Connor and Jason Randall Wilmington gave Wakefield a tough fight.

This game was very close until the last six minutes when the floodgates opened and Wakefield exploded for seven goals. Wilmington's Bobby Sinopoli scored the first goal of the game with assists going to Jen Corcoran and Jackie Rideout.

The Wildcat defensive squad, including Richie Buckley, Joey Pino and Eddie Lopez hustled well but Wakefield kept the pressure on.

The team's fortune turned around during Saturday afternoon's game with Cape Ann. The visiting Cape Ann forwards jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead after only three minutes of play, but the Wildcats didn't get discouraged. Instead they tightened up their "D" and kept up the hard skating.

To start the second period, Wilmington center Kevin Velardo won the opening face off and fed Eric Ollila who sped in on a breakaway, deked around the goalie and slipped the puck in behind him to bring the Cats within one goal of their opponent. Cape Ann scored again to end the second period with score 3-1.

Ollila again started the third period with a goal to edge the team within one goal. Wilmington's defense held firm with great play from Jennifer Corcoran, Jimmy Fitzpatrick and Marshall Nevins.

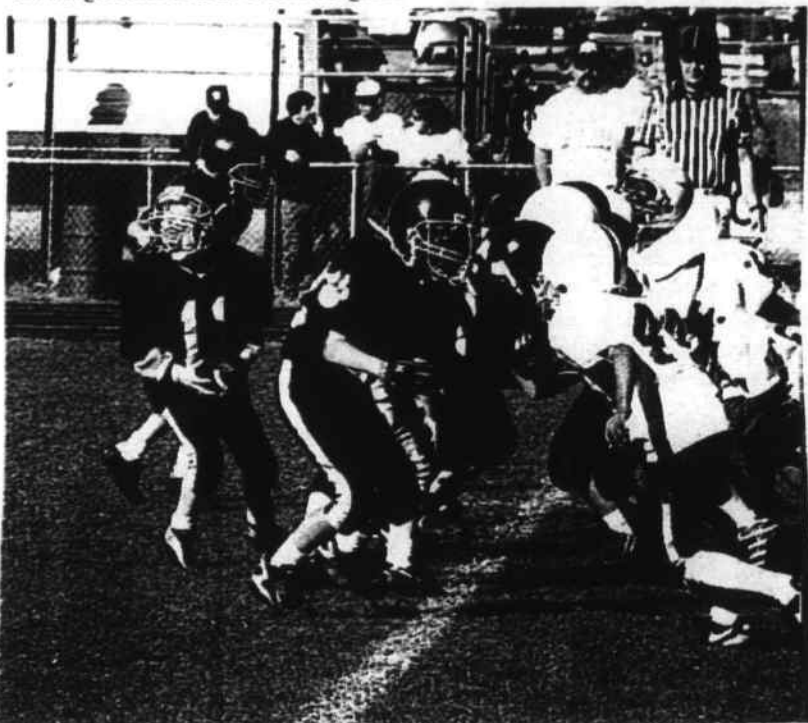

Wildcat forwards Steve Emery, Jay Surianello and Michael O'Connor kept the pressure on the opposition, but the game entered the final minutes with the score still 3-2.

Things really looked bad when Wilmington was called for a roughing penalty with 1:11 to play. But then right winger Eric Ollila was sprung free and swooped in on the Cape Ann goal to fire off a hard wrist shot. The shot was kicked out but Bobby Sinopoli was in the right spot to knock in the rebound to score the shorthanded goal and tie the game.

Wildcat netminders Dean Smith and Matt David were awesome in goal, holding Cape Ann to only three goals. The Wilmington tandem promises to be a key ingredient in the team's success this season.

Wilmington coach Joe Surianello commented that he is "quite happy with the team's continued improvement. Despite the final score they performed very well in the game against Wakefield and they really hustled to earn the tie with Cape Ann in the final minute.

The Squirt B's next game is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 8 at 6:50 p.m. in Hockeytown in Saugus.

Squirt A's rally past Reading

Wilmington 2 Reading 1

The Wilmington Squirt A youth hockey team were able to hold off the physical Reading squad, beating them 2-1 in parity round action from this past week.

Wilmington goals were scored by David DeMango, unassisted in the first period and Joe Giordano in the second period, assisted by Derek Montalto.

Wilmington goaltender Andy Berian was his usual solid self in net. Defensemen Kevin Tobin, Danny DeRossi, Eric Raposo, Bill Nee, Tim Madden, Derek Montalto were outstanding. Forwards (besides scorers) Zack Wilkins, Mark Giordano, Chris Dell'Anno, Brandon Marshall, Robbie Peterson, Tim Alder, Keith Brown, and Kyle Brown all played well.

Mite C's make it six

The Wilmington Mite C youth hockey team had a great week as it ran its unbeaten streak to six games and moved into first place in their league.

In the first game against Danvers the Cats started out fast with a goal by Dan Silva on a nice pass from Kyle Abell. Then just 40 seconds later Derek DeRosa made a nice rush by two Danvers defenders and fed a pass to Silva again for a 2-0 lead. Wilmington then slowed down and let Danvers score four times in the second period to take a 4-2 lead into the third.

Wilmington front line of Brian Garrett, Derek Griffin and Brad Fraser started the period with a number of good shots on goal as the defense of Andrew Fish and Rich LaVita kept Danvers off the scoreboard. Wilmington's third goal was scored by Ralph Newhouse with assist from Eric DiDomenico.

Jim Murray and Shayne Pellerin. With less than 50 seconds left to play Vin See to Pellerin who carried the puck the length of the ice and put a shot in the net that was stopped by Danvers goalie only to have Derek DeRosa put in the rebound for the tying goal. This was the best game Dan Metcalf played in goal with many great saves to keep his team in the game and gain a 4-4 tie.

Wilmington's second game against Tewksbury at home showed how much progress the Mite C's have made. The 5-1 victory featured strong defense by Ralph Newhouse, Brad Fraser, Eric DiDomenico and Derek DeRosa to help goalie Andrew Fish. Dan Silva scored two goals with assist to Brian Garrett, Rich LaVita, and Kyle Abell.

Great passing by Dan Metcalf and Derek Griffin lead to a goal scored by Jim Murray. Shayne Pellerin scored two goals in a strong game played by the first place team.

Boys Under 9B soccer team continuing to grow

From back in the dog days of August, the Wilmington Boys Under 9B youth traveling soccer team planted the seeds of success with hard work, plenty of learning, and loads of conditioning.

They can now reap their harvest as last Saturday, those seeds proved fruitful when Wilmington traveled to Tufts Field and captured a hard fought 1-0 victory over a physical Somerville team.

The win gave the Wilmington squad the Division 4A Fall League Championship, as they finished their season with an impressive 6-1-1 record.

The encounter started out as a back and forth affair, with the Somerville goalie and Wilmington's Kevin McDonough holding the fort for each team. At the 12:00 mark of the first half, Tony Karalekas took a pass from Chris Crosby, dribbled down the seam of the Somerville defense, and slid a pass over to this right. Sean Murphy took it in stride and nailed a bullet just between the near post and the Somerville goalie, and it was 1-0 Wilmington.

Little did anyone realize at the time that this would be the only score of the day and the league clincher.

In the second half, knowing a tie would do them no good in the standings, Wilmington opted to play an offensive game rather than sit on the lead. They utilized the aggressive means and actually outmoded the bigger home team. The final 15 minutes was a true masterpiece to watch for the Wilmington fans, who trekked down to cheer on their soon to be champs.

The large throng was treated to a display of complete domination by Wilmington over Somerville, as positional play, confidence, and superb conditioning were all evident and the main reasons why they held the one goal lead and took home the title.

Basically, it was a nearly flawless game played by there "Road Warriors" as they went through the season unbeaten away from the friendly confines of Shawsheen. Had it not been for the "Herculean" effort of the Somerville goalie, this could have been a four or five goal differential.

The shutout was anchored by the four way goalie system of Scott "Stonewall" Sferrazza, Kevin McDonough, Derek DeRosa, and Chris Crosby. Excellent field plays were turned in by Josh Mayo, Brian Bolger, Rocco Puccio, and Justin Patrie. Superb passing came from Jonathan Langone, Tony Karalekas, Sean Murphy, and Russo, who without a doubt, played the best game of his career, by being outstanding in all facets of the game.

Head coach Chuck Karalekas would like to congratulate the entire team for a truly fantastic fall season which saw them outscore their opponents 26-2, while really uniting into a cohesive unit.

The 1996 Division 4A Fall Champions have a lot to build on now, and the spring season would hope to see similar results.

Coach Karalekas would also like to acknowledge his two assistant coaches for their endless hours of time and dedication - Bob Mayo and Sean Murphy Sr.

Finally, a thank you to the players' parents, who supported the team wholeheartedly with enthusiasm and fine examples of sportsmanship.

Hail to the champions!

Jenna Neale

Jenna Neale, a Wilmington resident and 1995 graduate of Bishop Fenwick High School, continues her athletic successes as a starting midfielder for the Hartwick College Field Hockey team.

Neale, a sophomore, helped the Hartwick College Hawks with an assist in a 2-1 victory over Cortland State to win the New York State Division III Field Hockey championship.

Hartwick College is currently ranked fourth in the country with a 17-1 record. By winning the New York State championship they have received an automatic bid to the NCAA Division III Tournament. The NCAA Division III Tournament features the 16 best Div. III College teams in the country.

Boys Under 12B youth soccer

The Wilmington Boys Under 12B youth traveling soccer team played in the Westford Invitational Jamboree on Saturday, Nov. 2 at Parker Field in Westford.

Having suffered two shutout losses to end the regular season (vs. division powers Medford and Waltham) the boys wanted to finish off their fall soccer season on a much more positive note.

The Jamboree found Wilmington first facing defending Division II state champion Woburn in the first game. Some sloppy clearing and strong midfield play by the Woburn team kept the boys pinned in their own end at the start. After two minutes Woburn was ahead 1-0 and they increased the lead to 3-0 by the 15:00 mark.

At this point Willie Fiumara, of the Under 12C team who was supporting the team through the long day, took a pass on the right side, beat a defender and crossed the ball in front to Danny Vassallo who deftly placed the ball in the net. (Remember that name - Danny Vassallo, it becomes mighty important later in the day).

Despite the strong finish to the first half, the second half found Woburn to be too much for the Wilmington side. Three additional goals left the final score at 6-1.

The second round continued against host Westford. Wilmington and Westford tied 1-1 during the regular season and again played evenly throughout most of the match. A shot deflected high to the near corner of the net gave Westford a late first half goal and a 1-0 halftime lead.

Wilmington needed to find a spark in the second half and they came through in the clutch. Strong defensive play by Bryan Langone, Jason Gustin, Joel Guzinski, Pat McDonough and Matt Langone (supporting from the Under 12D team) allowed Wilmington to keep continual pressure in the Westford end.

The few breaks Westford had were turned away nicely by keeper Julio Fiumara. Especially fine defensive play was turned in by Pat Maloney whose physical presence gave the midfield to Wilmington for most of the second half.

At the forward and midfield spots some excellent combinations by Pat Reardon and Nick Eaton, Adam Constantino and Derek Courtois, Danny Vassallo and Paul Sferazza, Johnny Lee, John Martin and Matt Boland resulted in scoring chances that Westford managed to turn away.

As the clock wound down it seemed like a tough loss would be all that would come from the persistent efforts. With about two minutes to play, Adam Constantino gave a short pass to Derek Courtois who drove a high arching shot past the Westford keeper for a 1-1 tie.

The final game was against Billerica which had defeated the boys 9-0 during week two of the regular season. Despite the loss of defender Pat Maloney to a sore knee, the team was determined to make a better showing in this game.

Wilmington started strong and with five minutes left in the half it was still scoreless. However Billerica turned it up a notch and drove two shots past keeper Pat McDonough for a 2-0 half time lead.

The second half is why coaches coach, why parents stand hours on end in the wind, cold and rain and why kids remember with special joy what to most other people is a cloudy November Saturday.

Five minutes into the half with Wilmington's game stepped up big time. Johnny Lee was sent down the left wing after a smart clear at midfield by defender Joel Guzinski. Breaking into the box, Johnny drove a left footed shot just past the diving Billerica keeper and into the goal off the far post.

More and more pressure was applied as the half proceeded. Stopper Bryan Langone was everywhere supporting the Wilmington offense. His brother Matt, sweeper Jason Gustin and keeper Pat McDonough cleaned up whatever few Billerica plays got by him.

Midfielders Paul Sferazza, Pat Reardon, Nick Eaton and Matt Boland constantly drove balls long to the wings where Julio Fiumara, Johnny Lee, Adam Constantino and Danny Vassallo wreaked havoc with the Billerica defenders.

John Martin, moving up to forward for the game, got free just inside the penalty area and sent a wicked shot toward the net. Only a diving stop by the Billerica keeper kept his team in the lead.

A few minutes later a superb give and go by Danny Vassallo and Adam Constantino tied the score. Danny's perfectly timed and placed pass sent Adam into the clear where he duplicated John Martin's shot with an inch better placement. Adam's shot went off the keeper's hands and into the far side of the net. Tie game with five minutes left.

The offenses near stopped. Derek Courtois took a loose ball in the left corner of the box and crossed a perfect pass to the opposite post. Like he has been all year, Danny Vassallo was playing perfect positional soccer. Danny took Derek's feed and put a shot in off the near post five seconds before the game ended.

A 3-2 comeback win avenged the early season slaughter and earned the boys second place in the tournament.

The coaches would like to salute the boys for a fine season and especially want to thank the parents for their wonderful support. The coaches look forward to the spring season.

Revolution juniors gear up

The Wilmington Revolution Jrs. have won the war with four more victories against awesome opponents. The Girls Under 10C team has gained its independence with no battle scars. With great strategy from their generals, Ed Celli and Pat Rufo, this team is a team to be proud of.

The second half of this fall season found the Revolution Jrs. trying different battle modes. Katianna Martell, Lauren Cronan, and Sarah Rufo did great jobs in their positions as goalkeeper. Constant pressure was put on the other side's defense by forwards Catherine Celli, Kristen Donovan, Laura Crawford, and Kaitlin Chakoian. No enemy could sneak by defenders Julianne Martell, Alicia Braid or Lauren McGonagle.

The hard fought battles this time around were against Lincoln, Everett, Burlington, and Somerville. Somerville again was the hardest fought skirmish, but they fell to the great tactics of the Revolution Jrs.

Girls Under 10A youth soccer

The Wilmington Under 10A Girls soccer team participated in Haverhill's Columbus Day tournament and, under the blazing lights at the stadium Monday night, trounced the opposition to take home top prize. Team work, technical skills, aggressive play and field positioning were superb; the girls played a tremendous tournament with lots of heart and spirit.

On Saturday, the Lady Wildcats met up first with Georgetown and handed them an easy defeat, 6-0. Both Wilmington offensive lines dominated the action, with Caitlin McNabb booking the first two goals in the first 10 minutes, the first a header, assisted by linemates Debbie Lyons and Teresa DeSimone.

In the second half, Teresa blasted two in the net, and Debbie tucked in a goal assisted with a cleat to cleat long pass by defender Caitlin Foley. The offensive linemates Nicole Suave and Jackie Rideout connected with Celine DeMaggio who bagged the last goal of the game.

Defenders Jacqueline Spry and Erin Cahill also were key in blocking all but a few of Georgetown's shots at midfield, and keepers Stephanie Ramsdell and Erin Cahill provided all the insurance Wilmington needed to win.

The second game of the day saw Wilmington fall to Methuen 2-1, the only loss in the Wildcats' tournament tour. Despite the girls' dominating offense and stellar defensive tactics, the Methuen defense held tough, their offense played aggressively, and their scoring resulted from breakaways.

The game appeared promising with Wilmington taking an early lead to the first 10 minutes of play. Midfielder Nicole Sauve skillfully wended her way through Methuen's defensive mine field and beat the goalie on a perfect cross to the far corner of the net.

Despite incredible rebuffs by Wilmington's defenders Jacqueline Spry, Erin Cahill, Caitlin Foley and Julia Leverone and keeper Stephanie Ramsdell, Methuen put two goals to bed in rapid succession in the last 10 minutes to end the game.

Wilmington bounced back on Sunday with a win over Wilmington's C team, 6-0, to earn second place in the first round of play and advancement to the semifinals.

The C team put up a valiant effort, displaying great skill and plenty of spunk. Celine DeMaggio opened the scoring at the five minute mark, followed rapidly by a Debbie Lyons goal on a decisive cross from Caitlin McNabb and a Jackie Rideout punch from a Celine DeMaggio fake on the goal keeper.

The second half witnessed three more goals contributed by Caitlin McNabb, Julia Leverone and Jackie Rideout with assist nods to Teresa DeSimone, Nicole Sauve and Jacqueline Spry.

Wilmington met Haverhill in the semifinal round and blasted the opponents into the ozone layer, 9-0. Jackie Rideout went into orbit posting four goals, and Celine DeMaggio, Caitlin McNabb, Caitlin Foley, Nicole Sauve and Julia Leverone each contributed a goal. Each team members was a star! Again, keeper Stephanie Ramsdell ably tended net.

The girls rematched with Methuen for the final round on Monday evening and played one of the most exciting games ever played by this team. The Lady Wildcats came out with bated breath, ready to pounce on the opponents. Devour them they did!

Every player in every play gave 100 percent, demonstrating skills, strategy and aggressiveness only hinted at earlier in the tournament. Wilmington's offense dominated play, and defense was superb, virtually stopping Methuen's play-making at the midline.

As she did in the first round of play with Methuen, Nicole Sauve scored the only goal of the game by maneuvering the ball past the entire defense and beating the goalie one-on-one. Keeper Stephanie Ramsdell made a brilliant save on a blast from a lone opponent on a breakaway, coming far out of net to stop her and the best of Methuen efforts cold.

Allowing many scoring opportunities were teammates Teresa DeSimone and Debbie Lyons while defenders Caitlin Foley, Erin Cahill, Julie Leverone and Jacqueline Spry held off all scoring attempts by the opposition down to the final seconds. Wilmington won the game 1-0, and the top trophies. Congratulations for a well deserved first place outcome!

Under 10A blank Waltham

The Wilmington Girls Under 10A youth traveling soccer team ended its regular season unbeaten, shutting out Waltham, 1-0, on Oct. 26 and tying North Reading 2-2 on Nov. 2. The girls posted a successful 6-0-2 record for the fall season.

The Wilmington/Waltham match was a nail biter, with lots of give and go and aggressive play throughout the game. With only two minutes left the offensive line of Caitlin McNabb, Teresa DeSimone and Debbie Lyons exploded, producing the only goal of the game.

Midfielder Nicole Sauve presented many scoring opportunities and overall offensive punch. Jacqueline Spry on defense played a key role in deterring the opponents.

To end the season, Wilmington traveled to North Reading and came away with a tie. The Lady Wildcats dominated the field offensively, paying off nine minutes into the game with the first goal on an Erin Cahill cross to Caitlin Foley who tucked the ball into the net.

North Reading responded seven minutes later and then again one minute before the half to take the lead. Wilmington rallied in the second half, coming up with the tying goal. A beautiful pass from Celine DeMaggio hit a perfectly positioned Jackie Rideout who beat the entire North Reading defense with a blast to the left corner of the net. Although intercepted by the keeper she couldn't control it, and the ball trickled over the line for the final score. Julia Leverone provided solid defense.

Special kudos to keeper Stephanie Ramsdell who held both teams at bay with saves, fine ball handling and clearing.

Congratulations to the entire team for a great season: Erin Cahill, Celine DeMaggio, Teresa DeSimone, Caitlin Frey, Julia Leverone, Debbie Lyons, Caitlin McNabb, Stephanie Ramsdell, Jackie Rideout, Nicole Sauve, Jacqueline Spry and Christina Tocci.

Veteran's Day

'The respect has come back'

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

JOSEPH STEEN LOOKS over a plaque commemorating his election as state commander of the American Legion. The plaque is in front of Post 136 in Wilmington where he has been a commander for three times.

"People get Veterans Day confused with a memorial day," said American Legion Department of Massachusetts Commander Joseph Steen. "It's not. It is a day of celebration."

Steen is the person to know. A former commander of Wilmington Post 136, three times, and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Steen is the head Legionnaire for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

He reminds people that the day was originally called Armistice Day and is in memory of "the eleventh hour of the eleventh month when the treaty was signed to 'end the war to end all wars.'"

Steen said, "I remember all the parades on Veterans' Day as a kid."

However, most of that stopped in the mid 1960's with the protests surrounding the Viet Nam War.

"The respect has come back almost 100 percent with the Persian Gulf War," Steen notes.

As an example, Steen refers to the comeback of the Reserve Officers Training Corps (ROTC) on high school and college campuses.

not going to the military.

"If it wasn't for the military," Steen notes, "we would not be paying taxes. We might be part of a fascist or communist state."

He recalled the story of the Viet Nam vet who had lost both legs and an arm who was asked discharge from the service. Now, with his election as state commander, he said "I am trying to get younger vets and female veterans involved."

"Everyone forgets we have female veterans out there." The organization takes mem-

"Everyone forgets we have female veterans out there."

Joseph Steen, American Legion Department of Massachusetts commander.

The respect for the veteran or the day commemorating them is still not where Steen would like to see it.

"A lot of people gave up Veterans' Day for the day after Thanksgiving. At least we have it (the celebration of the day) back to November 11," Steen said.

What bothers Steen is the people on the talk shows that say they do not mind paying taxes but wish the money was by a young school girl, while he was being honored for his accomplishments, if he would do it over again.

According to Steen the veteran's reply was I have one arm left to give for my country."

Steen commented, "That is a lesson about what a Veteran is."

Steen knows about being a veteran. He comes from a long line of them.

His father and four uncles were in World War II and one uncle served in World War I.

Steen served in the Air Force for four years during the Korean Conflict and was a sergeant in the Air Patrol in that country.

The tradition has lived on in his family with a brother that served in Viet Nam and a son that has served in Lebanon.

Steen has been a member of the Legion since his honorable bers of the armed services that have served during the following periods:

• World War II from December 7, 1941 to December 31, 1946;

• Korea from June 25, 1950 to January 31, 1955;

• Viet Nam from December 22, 1961 to May 1, 1975;

• Lebanon/Grenada from August 24, 1982 to July 31, 1984;

• Panama from December 20, 1989 to January 31, 1990; and

• Persian Gulf from August 2, 1990 until the cessation of activities is determined by the U.S. Government.

The Legion was formed by an Act of Congress in 1919 following a caucus of the First American Expeditionary Force in Paris

AARP Connection can help

Live better on less money

If you could have a bigger house by working an extra 20 hours a week, would you work the extra hours? Would you be willing to live in a smaller house if this meant you could cut your working hours? Would you consider giving up your car and taking a bus if you could then afford to go on a special vacation every year? How much money is "enough" money?

Ask these questions of a hundred people and you will get different answers. Everyone has their own definition of "enough." Everyone has a different idea of what they are willing to do - or willing to give up - to get what they want.

It doesn't seem possible that living on less money and happiness can go hand in hand, but consider the grandmother who discovers she can no longer afford to continue buying lots of toys for her grandchildren. Instead, she spends a couple of hours a week reading to her grandchildren and baking cookies with them. The grandmother found that the children really enjoyed being alone with her, and she is reaping the benefits of a closer relationship with them. She discovered they really like her for who she is and not for what she buys.

"To reach the point this grandmother reached, it is important to take a close look at how you feel about money and to identify your needs, values and personal goals," says Barbara Hughes, a financial expert at the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP). "Then you must decide how you want your money to fund your values."

Hughes suggests that many people don't undertake this self-evaluation. "How many people spend long hours in the office when their personal values would have them spend more time with family and friends? We need to have our money management strategies match our needs and values." She says this variance between values and actual practice is the cause of much unnecessary stress.

Hughes says, "Creating both a personal and financial plan to help you meet your needs and bring better balance to your life's values and goals is the secret to living better on less money."

AARP Connections for Independent Living recognizes that the overwhelming majority of older Americans want to stay in charge of their lives as they grow older and remain in their homes and communities. One way AARP Connections for Independent Living helps people stay in charge is by offering free information about a variety of topics, including health, personal safety, home modification, transportation, and financial security.

AARP is the nation's leading organization for people age 50 and older. It serves their needs and interests through advocacy, research, informative programs and community services provided by a network of local chapters and experienced volunteers throughout the country. The organization also offers members a wide range of special membership benefits, including "Modern Maturity" magazine and the monthly "Bulletin."

Retirees still are flocking to Arizona

Retirees Continue To Flock To Arizona (NAPS) - It isn't just birds of a feather that flock together. For decades, retirees have been flocking to Arizona as their retirement destination. The figures bear this out. Since 1970, Arizona has ranked third in receiving the largest percentage of retirees over 60 years of age who have left their home states in search of a climate and community that cater to the active senior. By 2020, nearly one out of every five Arizonans will be 65 or older.

Interestingly, since 1960, more than 500,000 persons 60 years and older have moved to Arizona, with most choosing to live in master-planned communities known for their security, cleanliness and abundance of amenities.

Halloween Gala held at Wingate at Reading

Can a function room in an elegant local nursing home transform into a den of Halloween thrills and chills? If you ask any one in attendance at the first annual Wingate at Reading Ghouls Nite, the answer would definitely be yes. Over forty-five youngsters and parents from Reading and surrounding communities braved the tour through the creepy corridors filled with haunting sounds and exhibits.

The tour was led by an eerie half-masked character in black called "Erik". The tour was a clever blend of classic movie monsters and their legends. There were witches, a mummy, a werewolf (who made off with a tourist), Frankenstein's monster, and Count Dracula. Erik concluded the tour by playing an organ melody he prepared for the occasion. He was interrupted by a mischievous witch who removes his mask, revealing his disfigured features to all. (He turned out to be the Phantom of the Opera.)

The well received gala was complete with drinks and loot bags for the kids. Some of the patrons were surprised to find out the cast of characters were comprised of Wingate employees.

As nursing home resident Ms. Palladino put it, "They should take this act on the road!"

$30K state grant in Woburn

"The Downtown Revitalization Committee and Mayor Robert Dever confirmed ... that the Thomas J. Martin Co. of Cambridge has been chosen as the firm that will coordinate efforts to improve the downtown area," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Money used to hire the firm will come from a $30,000 grant awarded to the city by the state's Executive Office of Community Development."

"Martin will be joined by the engineering firm of Vanasse Hangen Brustlin of Watertown in its efforts."

"They will guide us, but it will still be up to us," Dever told a gathering of downtown merchants at a monthly Downtown Committee meeting.

"Basically what we are doing is tapping into a lot of experience," Dever said. "They give us a spur of optimism that gives us hope for the downtown area." The two firms will be reviewing the survey done by the DRC earlier this year. The firm will also look at the center's strengths, weaknesses, and the community's vision for the area, Dever said.

"Factors such as land use, business mix, zoning, and the city's demographics will also be worked into the equation, Dever said. Foremost needs were for more parking and a more attractive downtown section."

"Efforts toward the former include the razing of the old laundromat on Main Street. Eventually, access will be made available to Magazine Hill for additional parking, officials hope...Capital improvements to the downtown thus far have included the repaving project on Main Street, and putting up fountains and flower pots (donated by the Woburn Redevelopment Authority) in the center...."

Good citizens in Wakefield

"The Citizens' Scholarship Foundation (CSF) of Wakefield has been selected as one of the top two Dollars for Scholars chapters in the country, and as a result received a national Dollars for Scholars Golden Tassel Chapter Service Award," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Through their commitment and interest in Wakefield's young people, Wakefield Dollars for Scholars volunteers have made postsecondary educational opportunities possible for many promising students," William C. Nelsen, president of Dollars for Scholars' parent organization Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of America said.

"By receiving a Golden Tassel Award, the Wakefield chapter is recognized as one of the finest in the country," said Nelsen. "The investment made by Wakefield's Dollars for Scholars volunteers in their young people will be realized for years to come," Nelsen added.

"The Dollars for Scholars Golden Tassel Chapter Service Award recognized chapters that have demonstrated outstanding service to their communities. Each year, two Golden Tassel Awards are presented - one to an established chapter, and one to a chapter that has been in existence for three or fewer years."

"Each Golden Tassel chapter received a $1,000 scholarship to be granted to a student they choose. The chapters also received a complimentary registration and travel stipend for one of its volunteers to attend the Dollars for Scholars National Conference held in September in Minnesota."

"CSF of Wakefield has a long and distinguished history of service to its community and young people," said Nelsen.

"Wakefield is one of Dollars for Scholars' charter chapters, established in 1960. Over the years, the Wakefield chapter has awarded more than $3.0 million to over 3,600 students. This spring, the chapter awarded $252,500 to 243 students."

"Contributing significantly to Dollars for Scholars' success in Wakefield is the endowment fund the chapter established many years ago. Today, the endowment fund totals nearly $4.0 million and oversees 350 permanent funds that honor people who lived or worked in Wakefield or were established by active community organizations."

"The chapter also has five major fundraisers throughout the year that involve hundreds of adult and student volunteers."

Job center in Wilmington

"The Wilmington Community Development Program Job

Center is up and running and now hosting twice weekly employment workshops for town residents," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"The job center is located at the Community Resource Center at 10 Church St., next to the post office."

"The Community Development Program is sponsored by the town and funded through a community development block grant from the state Executive Office of Communities and Development. Both the Job Center and the workshops are open to Wilmington residents free of charge."

"At the Job Center, which is open Monday through Thursday from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., participants may use computers and other office equipment and can receive individual employment counseling by appointment."

"The workshops are specifically designed to sharpen job search skills. Workshops are held Tuesday evenings at 7:00 and Thursday mornings at 10:00...For more information about employment assistance and training services through the Community Development Program Job Center, call Cathy Beyer at 658-3102."

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 13-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper for up-to-date information about your city or town. We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867.

The employees of Wingate at Reading hosted its first Ghoulish Nite this past Halloween. The function room at Wingate was turned into a den of thrills and chills and over 45 youngsters and adults attended.

Celebrity auction and dinner

A group of health professionals, friends of the Massachusetts Center for SIDS and parents whose babies have died of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) have joined together with the support of the Royal Sonesta Hotel to sponsor an auction and dinner to benefit the Massachusetts Center for SIDS.

The event, "A Night of High Adventure" will be held at the Royal Sonesta Hotel in Cambridge on Thursday, November 14. Cocktails and silent auction begin at 6:30pm. Sport Celebrities, TV and radio personalities will act as auctioneers for the live auction.

Tickets are $50 per person. Corporate sponsorship, memorials, as well as business card ads can be placed in the program book. Ads or tickets may be purchased by sending a check to the SIDS Outreach Foundation, C/O Massachusetts Center for SIDS, Boston Medical Center, One Boston Medical Center Place, Boston, MA 02118, or by calling the SIDS Center at 617-534-7437.

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, also known as crib death, is the sudden, unexplained death of an apparently healthy baby. SIDS is the leading single cause of death among children aged one week to one year.

This event is sponsored by the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) Outreach Foundation, Inc., a 501 (C) (3) tax exempt charitable foundation, which supports the services provided by the Massachusetts Center for SIDS.

For more information, contact Mary McClain at the Massachusetts Center for Sids, 617-534-7437 or 800-641-7437.

ANTHONY MANCONI

Tony Stack, father of 10 school-age children said to me, "Chipper, I read so much about how Russian and Chinese school children are far ahead of us in Math, Science and Algebra, but I'll bet that not one of them can match any of my kids selling peanut brittle, cookies and chocolate mints door-to-door for some kind of a school fund-raiser."

Dicky Powers had a great day on the golf course yesterday, he only fell out of the Golf Cart Once.

When my mail arrived by "Stagecoach" last week, I asked Adam Safrine, "why so late?" Adam smiled and said, "Chipper, the horses are getting Older and Older."

When Kathy and I got married, it ended a beautiful friendship that began in the first grade.

I remember when my Aunt Nora came home from church mad as a wet hen. "I wish they would cut out that shaking hands as a sign of peace at Mass," she shouted. "Why?" I asked. "Well I watched this kid in front wiping his nose with his right hand and I prayed please Lord don't let him extend his hand to me. Thank God my prayer was answered."

The church committee chairwoman sent a note to Kathy saying "the cake you baked and donated to our fund-raiser recently was indeed 'concrete' evidence of your cooperative spirit."

George Hickey told me that when they want the patrons at the Beaumont VFW Post to leave, so they can close shop for the day, Manny Alves reads the jokes, puns and quips in the Woodchips column aloud and, the members run out like the fire alarm went off.

George Gould received a letter from Ireland that his Uncle Dan who worked in a brewery fell into a mixing vat and drowned. Two of his fellow workers had a hold on him twice but he kept pushing them away. Uncle Dan was cremated and the fire burned for three days. He had plenty of SPIRIT.

I remember when my mother would get the family together and tell us some of her "Gems of Wisdom." "Don't tell anyone your troubles, 30 percent of the people aren't listening, 30 percent don't care, 30 percent are 'GLAD' you have them and the other 10 percent have troubles of their own and don't want to hear yours."

Amy Gusso, Sarah Peoples Kim Russell, Kristen Wroblewski, Lisa Hudson, Johanna McGlaughlin and Carolyn, Hines all of NORTH READING.

Sonny Pearlman has a bumper sticker on his car that reads, "We are staying together for the sake of the dog."

When Stan Black's Uncle celebrated his 95th birthday, he told the guests at the party, "If I knew that I was going to live this long, I would have taken 'BETTER' care of myself."

I asked my cousin Angelo Quaganti, "how's your wife?" Angelo smiled and said, "better than nothing."

At their 50th wedding anniversary party, Angelo got up, raised his glass up high and said, "Here's to the BEST years of my life, that I spent in the arms of another man's wife." Angelo hesitated and then added, "MY MOTHER!"

Aunt Nora calls a "Girdle" a "Pot-Holder."

Kathy said to me, "Chips, why don't you bring me a box of candy anymore like you did when you were courting me?" "Kathy dear," I replied, "I don't know any kid who keeps feeding worms to a fish, AFTER he's caught it!"

You know a politician is lying when his lips are moving.

Jewelry Box Sign, "Come in-Have Your Ears Pierced-While you Wait."

Jimmy Fanikos believes that, Hertz Van Rental was a Dutch Painter.

Folks, I'm NOT the usual lovable Chipper as far as advertising gimmicks are concerned.

Folks, those Rebates, Cash-Backs and Roll-Backs are driving me BANANAS. Kathy just sent in a rebate coupon for 25 cents and it cost her 32 cents for the stamp. When I told her how stupid she was, she shouted, "Look here you four eyed idiot, I lose seven cents, while those 'nuts' lose 25 cents." Gee folks, maybe Kathy makes CENTS after all.

Here's a "Woodchips" tip for those contemplating marriage soon. "The Ring, Gown, Hall, Band and Cake are NOT the most important items to consider. The MOST important is, 'The seating arrangements.' At my sister Maureen's wedding reception, the seating plans were a complete disaster. Everyone at the tables 2,5,7 and 10 weren't on speaking terms with one another. Some sitting at table 4 were giving the, "Italian Horns Salute" to those at table 3. So folks, if you want to Hire my Aunt Nora, she can tell you Who is talking to Who, or, is it Whom?

Veteran's Day

France. The caucus was called March, 1919 to find a way to help the troops returning to the United States at the end of World War I.

Steen explained that the returning troops needed help with medical bills, jobs and other necessities.

The new organization was able to help the vets who were still in the hospitals and the families of those that did not return.

This is a job that the Legion is still undertaking. It also acts as a lobbying group to fight for veterans' rights in the Congress of the United States.

Much of this effort is out of the Legion's national headquarters in Minneapolis, MN where the first convention was held in November, 1919.

In Massachusetts the Legion has helped to support the two state run Soldiers Homes in Chelsea and Holyoke.

For the most part Steen reports that the whole state is fairly active but the Legion enjoys its strongest membership in Middlesex County.

Over three million veterans belong nationwide with a membership of 69,000 statewide.

In an effort to increase the numbers of veterans in the organization, Steen is attempting to have the 365 posts throughout the state be more visible in the communities.

"A lot of places have sloughed off because the same old-timers are in control," Steen said.

There are several Legion sponsored community programs that can be used by the posts for public relations purposes. They are:

-American Legion Baseball which 86,000 young men participate in every year;

-American Legion Boys State/Boys Nation a week long program where the participants are selected by the local posts from high school students;

From S-1

-High School Oratorical Contest in which students can vie for college scholarships;

-Scouting sponsorships. About 3,000 Legion posts sponsor Boy Scout and Cub Scout troops;

-Need A Lift - a publication by the Legion which informs high school students on the hows and wheres to apply for scholarship funding; and

-The Samsung American Legion scholarship program.

For more information on any of these programs call your local American Legion Post or check with your high school guidance department.

Steen also reported on the Student Trooper program open to both male and female students.

The participants are invited to spend a week at the State Police Academy in New Braintree. They undergo a program of strict discipline from the time they report on Monday until they go home. No long hair or jewelry is allowed to be worn during the program.

Steen and the local legion posts are also supporting the Citizens Flag Alliance a Legion sponsored group that is attempting to get a constitutional amendment passed that would protect the "Stars and Stripes."

According to Steen, laws were on the books in each state until 1989. At that time a protestor burned a flag at the Republican Convention. Although he was arrested and convicted of desecrating the flag, the Court of Appeals overturned the conviction saying that it was an action protected under the First Amendment.

Steen explained that the present legislation the Alliance, which is made up of civic, fraternal veterans, minority busi-

A Silent Tribute

On a beautiful June morning in 1900, a country doctor delivered a fine baby boy. As he headed his horse leisurely for home, he basked in the warm sunshine and reflected on the thought of the successful birth.

Back at the farmhouse where the baby had been born, the parents admired their newborn son and thanked God for this safe arrival. The parents were trying to decide on a name for the child, when three white butterflies flew in through the open window, circled the room and flew out again. The infant's mother and father paid no special attention to this occurrence, and after continued discussion, finally chose the name of John for their son.

The boy brought nothing but happiness and joy to his parents throughout his childhood, and in his seventeenth year, as his proud parents watched from their seats in the town park, John received his high school diploma. As the mayor handed John the piece of parchment, the three white butterflies flew over the stage.

Following the completion of the graduation ceremonies, John, with mixed emotions, told his parents he had enlisted in the army. After he had received his basic training, he was sent overseas to join the forces stationed in France.

Three months later a telegram arrived at the farmhouse - The War Department informed John's parents that he was missing in action. After writing many letters of inquiry and waiting many months for more information, their only response was a tortuous silence.

The war finally came to an end, and after the treaties were signed, John's mother and father decided to visit the area in France where John had spent his last days.

They visited Flanders Field, made famous by John McCrae's poem, and later went to Paris. In Paris they paid their respects at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. As they stood in front of the monument saying a silent prayer for the soul of the soldier interred there, three white butterflies flew over the tomb, hovered over it for a moment in salute, and then flew on....

ness and labor groups, is fighting for would allow the American public the chance to vote on whether they want the amendment.

Although the legislation has passed Congress, the U.S. Senate has not passed. Steen notes that both senator Edward Kennedy and John Kerry have voted against the legislation.

The amendment will be brought up in the next session of Congress and the Alliance is asking for your support on the issue.

AN AFTERNOON OF CHAMBER MUSIC

The North Reading Cultural Council invites you to an afternoon of chamber music on November 10th at 2pm in the Activity Room of the Library. This first concert will include the music of Schubert, Chopin and Ibert, performed by Brett Johnson, Baritone; Hilary Walther, violin; and Duncan Cumming, piano.

All of the performers are members of the faculty at Phillips Academy, Andover, and are well known in the Boston area as performers and teachers. Bring the family and enjoy these fine performers. A reception will follow.

The North Reading Cultural Council is a local agency, funded by the Massachusetts Cultural Council. Its goal is to foster the arts in the community through grant awards and other cultural events.

BREASTFEEDING IS TOPIC OF LA LECHE

The early weeks of breastfeeding are a time of learning for both you and your baby. Most of the time the process goes smoothly. If problems develop it is rarely necessary to wean a baby.

On Wednesday, November 6 at 10:15 am La Leche League of Reading will meet to discuss "The Art of Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties" at the Reading Public Library (upstairs meeting room), 64 Middlesex Ave., Reading. Women from surrounding towns are welcomed.

This meeting is the third in the current series of four monthly meetings open to nursing mothers and their babies, as well as pregnant and other interested women. The discussion is informal, with opportunity to ask questions and share experiences.

The group maintains a lending library of books on breastfeeding, childbirth and child care. La Leche League leaders may be called at any time for immediate help, encouragement and practical suggestions regarding breastfeeding, or to obtain the manual, The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding.

For directions, further information, or just encouragement please call the group leaders: Linda 272-8930, Carmen 944-0377, or Karen (508)-657-8301.

NUTRITION AND MENTAL HEALTH PARENT GROUP

"DIRTY WORK" PRESENTED IN BURLINGTON

Booing is encouraged and hissing is de rigueur for the Burlington Players' production of "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" or "Tempted, Tried and True," a musical melodrama spoof by Bill Johnson.

"Dirty Work" runs November
8-23, Thursday through Saturday at 8pm and Sundays at 7pm at the Park Playhouse, 12 Edgemere Avenue in Burlington.
Tickets are $10-12 (senior and student discounts available) and can be reserved by calling 617-229-2649.

Based on a vintage 1890's melodrama, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" tells the tear-jer-king story of Nellie Lovelace (played by Lexington's Emily Snodgrass), an innocent country girl; of Adam Oakhart (Andy Winig of Arlington), the stalwart blacksmith's son; and of Munro Murgatroyd (Woburn resident

Welcome aboard in Lynnfield

"We have new staff members joining our faculty this year as well as veteran staff members
... in different roles," notes
Lynnfield High Principal
Kristine Benson, in the "Lynnfield Villager."

Steve McBride is the Interim
Assistant Principal replacing
John Moynahan, and Jim
Kearns is the Math

Science Department Head
replacing Joan Molin. Chris Burke is now full time in the mathematics department, Phil
Moore has been increased to .95 teaching science and physical education, and Lisa Giacalone has been increased to .8 in the world language department.

Two new teachers have also joined the staff: Kara
Cunningham teaching World
History, Study Skills and Critical Issues; and Zsuzanna Csaki, teaching Advanced Algebra.

Congratulations, Burlington!

"The Scholastic Aptitude Test
(SAT) scores for students in 1995-1996 improved in the Verbal and Math categories and Director of Guidance Thomas Imbroglia said, 'We're moving in a positive direction,' notes the Burlington edition of the 'Daily Times Chronicle.'

"The consensus of the School Committee was to withhold extensive comment on the results, since the board received them the day they were reported.

"Imbroglia told the School Committee the scores have been 're-centered' - that is, the middle score, previously 400, is now 500.

"Burlington students in 1995-1996 scored 516 in both the Verbal and Math categories.

"The total of 1032 was 21 points higher than the state average. That total is 1011 (507 Verbal, 504 Math).

"Students beat the state average in Verbal by nine points and Math by 12 points.

"The school administration is currently negotiating a contract with Kaplan Industries, a nationally known SAT-training company which would help students improve scores more..."

Solving puzzles in Winchester

"The Wilson Reading Method:
A Piece of the Puzzle" will be presented by Alison Blackwell and Jean Newell, Winchester Schools Reading Specialists, on Thursday, November 14th at 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester Room at Town Hall. The program will offer an overview of the Wilson Method and a discussion on how it fits into the overall reading picture.

Alison Blackwell has worked extensively in early literacy assessment and intervention.
Blackwell has also served as a coordinator and instructor in programs for the gifted and talented. Jean Newell is a specialist in early literacy assessment and intervention and has worked with Summer Reading
Programs. Newell also has provided presentations on developmental education in the intermediate grades.

This event is free, open to the community at large and is sponsored by the Winchester Parent
Advisory Committee on Special Education (PAC). For further information, call the Pupil
Services Office, 721-7005.

Congratulations, Terri and Keri!

Wakefield Superintendent of Schools Terrance Holmes
recently presented Wakefield
High students Terri Bruno and Keri Laidlaw with the Superintendent's Certificate of Academic Excellence. The annual awards are granted under the sponsorship of the Massachusetts Association of School Superintendents. The intent of the award is to recognize and reward academic achievement.

COLLEGE Cost is up - so is aid

If you're not up on the latest college costs, chances are they're up on you. According to the College Board, the price for a year at college rose another 5% last year. A year at a public university costs $9,649 on average, with the figure twice as much for a private college.

While you may have heard the news about climbing tuition and fees, what you might not know is that money for federal programs designed to help students and families make higher education possible is rising as well. Federal aid programs, including Pell Grants, federal work-study, and low-interest federal education loans, will provide close to $40 billion for college during the current school year.

"The best news for parents and families is that there is money available for college," says Lydia M. Marshall, executive vice president, Sallie Mae, the nation's largest source of funds for higher education. "Irrespective of your financial circumstances, you can qualify for federal financial aid, but it's important to know where to start and how to shop around for the best funding package."

Marshall notes that almost half of all college students today use any of four types of student loans to help finance their college education.

Perkins Loans are low-interest (5%), need-based loans administered by the student's college. For undergraduate students, the maximum Perkins loan amount is $3,000 per year; $5,000 annually for graduate students. The repayment term is up to 10 years.

Stafford Loans are the most popular federal student loans, made to undergraduate and graduate students attending accredited colleges at least half-time. For students who demonstrate need, the federal government pays the interest on the loan while the student is in school and during a six-month grace period thereafter. There are borrowing limits, depending on the student's academic level. The interest rate varies annually (8.25% currently, which is the cap) with a repayment term of up to 10 years.

PLUS Loans are loans taken out by parents (with no adverse credit history) to pay for their child's undergraduate education. PLUS loans can cover the entire cost of the student's education less other aid received. PLUS loans carry a variable interest rate (currently 8.72% capped at 9%) with repayment as long as 10 years.

Private Loans, as with federally guaranteed loans, are available from banks and other private lenders. Private loans are becoming increasingly popular as education costs rise. Some qualified students can borrow up to the total cost of education, minus other aid they are eligible to receive.

Innovative private loan programs such as Sallie Mae's Signature Education Loan Program, allow students to apply for both their federal loans and private supplemental loans at one time and then provide convenient combined billing during repayment. The private loan repayment term can be as long as 15 years.

Lenders that partner with Sallie Mae, for example, will reduce the interest rate of Stafford loan borrowers by two percentage points after the first 48 payments are made on time.

Middlesex East Sports Athletes & Activities

BY PAUL FEELY

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: What coach made the following quote: "Absolute silence - that's the one thing a sportswriter can quote accurately?" Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

Burlington's HEATHER RIZZO is a member of the Bentley College field hockey team, which has compiled a 13-5 record and put together an impressive nine-game winning streak this year.

Tewksbury's SUE PERKINS and MELISSA DOHERTY were both named to the Merrimack Valley All-Conference field hockey team, while their coach, PAT RYSER was given Coach of the Year honors.

There are a number of local skaters hoping to make the men's ice hockey team at Bentley College this year. Among the hopefuls are sophomores MATT CAHILL (Woburn), RANDY BOYCE (Tewksbury), along with freshmen SEAN FITZGERALD (Woburn), JOHN POWER (Reading), RYAN SODERQUIST (Stoneham), and JOE CULLEN (Wilmington).

Registration forms are still being accepted for the seventh annual Northeast Preseason Hockey Conditioning Camp for both boys and girls enrolled in grades 9-12. The camp will take place from November 25-30 at the Kasabuski Arena in Saugus.

Following the first 24 on-time payments, the borrower's account will be credited with an amount equal to the three percent loan origination fees less $250. There is also a one-quarter point reduction if payments are made electronically. For a borrower with $20,000 in education loans, such discounts add up to $2,137 in savings.

For a free 20-page booklet on Paying For College—including guidance on how to estimate current and future college costs, tips on how to save, an overview of federal aid programs, and directions on applying for financial aid call 1-800-806-3681.

Call Ed White at 617-246-0227 for more information.

Nominations to the Winchester Hall of Fame are being accepted up until December 1. To be eligible, a candidate must have been a graduate of Winchester High for at least 10 years. All nominations should be sent to the Winchester Sports Foundation, Maria Montouri, 1 Winchester Place, Winchester, MA 01890.

In a key game against Woburn over the weekend, Reading's EXCELL WALKER had 455 yards of total offense, gaining 267 rushing yards and recording 123 yards receiving while taking home 65 yards on returns. He also scored six touchdowns to lead the Rockets to a 40-14 win over the Tanners.

Need some clues to help out with the above-mentioned trivia question? You've probably seen him throwing around some chairs on occasion.

In a big 24-8 win over Methuen over the weekend, Tewksbury's DAVE SHUNAMON scored two touchdowns.

The annual Burlington High School Alumni Association Flag Football Tournament is coming up Saturday, November 30, from 10 am until 1 pm. The cost is $10 per player, and the event will take place at Burlington High School. All proceeds will benefit the Alumni Scholarship Fund at Burlington High School. Players will be matched up as close to their year of graduation as possible, and anyone seeking more information should call Chris Brooks at 272-2649 or David Hanafin at 273-9588.

In the Cross Country State Coaches Meet, held on Saturday, Wakefield's SHAWN WALLACE placed second in the Division 1 sophomore race with a time of 16:26. In the Division 2 boys junior and senior race, Stoneham's ANTHONY RAGUCCI placed third at 16:18.

In the Division 1 sophomore girls race, Woburn's JANESSA BUTTARO placed second at 19:56. In the Division 2 junior and senior girls race, Winchester's REBECCA ALDRICH placed second at 18:53.

The Plymouth State College men's ice hockey team recently began its season with two locals on the roster. Reading's MARK MEMMOLO and MIKE FLAHERTY have both made the cut this year. Both are juniors, and will man the blue line for the Panthers. Last season, Flaherty had three goals and six assists in 23 games, while Memmolo had two goals and five assists in 23 games.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: That quote is attributed to controversial Indiana University basketball coach Bobby Knight, who has never been known as a friend of the media. Congratulations to those that answered the question correctly, and look for this space next week to find another sports-related trivia question.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 617-944-2200 between 7 am and 3:30 pm, Monday through Friday.

Red Cross continues flood relief efforts

As disaster relief efforts shift into the recovery phase, the American Red Cross continues to help meet the emergency needs of those affected by the floods in Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire.

Due to the sporadic flooding, Red Cross volunteers are staffing a Helpline to make Red Cross service more accessible for those affected by the flood.

Red Cross caseworkers, nurses and mental health professionals will be available to answer questions, help determine individual needs for assistance, provide information regarding the nearest Disaster Service Center, and schedule home visits if necessary.

Trained Red Cross caseworkers will schedule an appointment to visit affected homes to determine a family's disaster caused needs. Individuals and families affected by the flood can call 1-800-422-7935 or 1-800-439-2370 (TTY) daily from 8am to 8p.

The Helpline and outreach activities are several ways the Red Cross will help meet the emergency needs of flood victims. Service Centers are open daily from 9am to 6pm and are located at: Lawrence, Naval-Marine Reserve Center, 67 North Parish Street and Revere, Revere City Hall, (Second Floor), 281 Broadway.

Along with these two service centers, the Red Cross and Southern Baptist Convention Disaster Relief continue to serve meals from 2 kitchen/feeding sites. The Kitchens are open daily and are serving two meals a day, lunch (11:30am-1pm) and dinner (4:30pm-6pm). The sites are: Burlington, St. Margaret's Church, 111 Winn Street and Lawrence, Naval-Marine Reserve Center, 67 North Parish Road.

Middlesex Fells activities include hike and clean-up

WEST MEDFORD — The following activities are sponsored by Friends of the Middlesex Fells Reservation and are free and open to the public. The Friends of the Fells is a nonprofit, volunteer organization, whose purpose is the protection and preservation of the Middlesex Fells Reservation. To become a member or volunteer, call the Fells office at (617) 662-2340 for more information.

Fells Clean-Up

Saturday, Nov. 9, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Do your part to keep the Fells a beautiful place we can all enjoy. The area will be determined according to current needs. T-shirts and refreshments will be provided for the participants. Call Art Rosenstein at (617) 389-5303 for meeting place and further information.

Eastern Fells Hike

Sunday, Nov. 10, 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

This is a moderate hike over hilly terrain with some views of the Boston skyline. Co-leaders Joe Pirrello and Jack Gentile. Meet at the Stone Zoo parking lot. Cancel for rain.

Overeaters Anonymous abstinence day Nov. 16

To support those unable to stop eating compulsively, Overeaters Anonymous marks its Fifth Annual International Day Experiencing Abstinence (I.D.E.A.), Saturday, November 16th.

Created to help members abstain from compulsive eating, OA groups worldwide have planned special events that deal with abstinence-related issues.

North Shore Intergroup will be holding a special 2 hour speaker/discussion meeting celebrating abstinence at the First Parish Congregational Church, Church Street, Wakefield from 1:30-3:30 pm on Saturday, November 16. All interested community members are welcome to attend.

Overeaters Anonymous is a nonprofit, Twelve-Step Program which was founded in Los Angeles, CA, January 19, 1960.

OA's only requirement for membership is a desire to stop eating compulsively; it is self-supporting, there are no dues or fees. Since 1960, OA's message of recovery has touched over 110,000 people.

The OA Fellowship is self-supporting through its own contributions. For more information on Overeaters Anonymous and local meetings, call 508-667-9998 or 617-641-2303.

"Wilson Reading Method" discussion in Winchester

"The Wilson Reading Method: A Piece of the Puzzle" will be presented by Alison Blackwell and Jean Newell, Winchester Schools Reading Specialists, on Thursday, November 14th at 7:30 p.m. in the Winchester Room at Town Hall. The program will offer an overview of the Wilson Method and a discussion on how it fits into the overall reading picture.

Alison Blackwell has worked extensively in early literacy assessment and intervention. Blackwell has also served as a coordinator and instructor in programs for the gifted and talented. Jean Newell is a specialist in early literacy assessment and intervention and has worked with Summer Reading Programs. Newell also has provided presentations on developmental education in the intermediate grades.

This event is free, open to the community at large and is sponsored by the Winchester Parent Advisory Committee on Special Education (PAC). For further information, call the Pupil Services Office, 721-7005.

Generation X versus Baby Boomers

"Generation X" workers are typically more positive about the workplace than any other age group. By contrast, baby boomers are the least positive.

These are among the findings of a new survey by The Wyatt Company. The Wyatt Work USA survey, which was conducted from July to September 1994, asked 4,300 Americans about a wide range of work-related issues. The sample is statistically representative of U.S. workers at companies with 100 or more employees.

The survey revealed a number of areas where age, gender, ethnicity and job level affect employee attitudes.

For instance, the generation X group (under 30 years old) were far more likely to express confidence in management than their baby boomer counterparts (30 to 49 years old). Fifty percent of Xers said their company was well managed, versus 41% of boomers.

More Xers said that work activities are well coordinated across work areas (46%, versus 37% of boomers), and more felt that their company promotes the most competent people (38%, versus 23% of boomers).

"One might conclude that the more positive attitude of Xers is directly related to their shorter length of time in the workforce," says Wyatt consultant Jacques Leger. "This may be part of the answer, but another factor may be that Xers have entered the workforce with more realistic expectations than boomers."

Colonial chorus players present

On November 8, 9, 15, and 16, the Colonial Chorus Players of Reading will present the musical "Li'l Abner" at Reading Memorial High School. All performances are at 8:00 pm. This delightful satire, based on the Al Capp comic strip which parodies governmental intervention, is as fresh today as it was when written in 1956. The title role of Abner Yokum is played by Reading resident Ron Cavicchio. He is romantically pursued by Daisy Mae Scragg, played by Cheryl Condon of Methuen. Tim Dineen of Tewksbury plays Marrin' Sam, always ready to provide advice, history lessons and weddings.

Feisty Mammy Yokum is Wakefield resident Diane Powers, who along with Reading resident, Rod Chandler as Pappy Yokum, provide parental guidance to Abner. Jeff Goor of Lowell plays Earthquake McGoon, the "world's dirtiest wrangler," whose "secret desire is to tangle with Daisy Mae." Senator Jack S. Phogbound, the "done nothing for 18 years" Senator is played by Wakefield resident, Tom Coffin.

Dogpatch, Abner's hometown, is ably administered by Mayor Dan'l D. Dawgmeat.

Lynnfield resident Michael Buckley plays Speedy McRabbit and Reading's Lou Palumbo plays the "ever-sensible" Romeo Scragg. Gary Goldstein of Beverly plays Dr. Rasmussen Finsdale, the scientist in charge of "top-secret" government projects. He is assisted by "loyal scientists" Ed Surrence and Rob Ward of Reading and Gerry Barrett of Charlestown.

Alpenhof Ski Club holds membership meeting

In the Fall of 1969 a group of students and adults in Stoneham organized what was to become the first season of the ALPENHOF SKI CLUB. The club was formed to give students from Stoneham and surrounding towns the chance to go skiing regularly with their friends over the coming winter.

After 27 seasons the club is now organizing for the twenty-eighth season of activity. During this time over 5200 youth from the area have participated in an average of five activities each year with ski trips to dozens of ski areas in New England, Canada and Colorado.

The club makes skiing possible for the young people, even if they do not have their own equipment, as the club will rent equipment from its supply to members for a nominal cost per day.

In addition, the club is able to rent twenty sets of equipment to members for the entire season if they are more active skiers, or plan to ski frequently throughout the season.

Membership in the club is open to anyone in grades 7 through 12 in any local school. Stoneham, Melrose, Reading and Wakefield are a few of the towns represented to the club.

The diabolical General Bullmoose is played by David Daley of Boston. His "confidential secretary," Appassionata Von Climax, is played by Stoneham resident, Marybeth

Li'l Abner

Braese, Carolyn Chandler, Faith Clark, Jane Clark, Meggie Dennis, Leigh Freeman, Beth Haley and Luke Ohlson, Malden's Kerri Burgess and Charlestown's Rynne Burton.

played by Wakefield resident Richard Powers. One of the more interesting Dogpatch residents is Moonbeam McSwine, played by Tewksbury's Erin Dineen. This olfactory-offensive gal "does all right when the wind bows the other way." Reading residents Peter Cavicchio and Tom O'Brien play "heap-big-fire-water" manufacturers, Lonesome Polecat and Hairless Joe, respectively.

The orchestra is conducted by Rusty Palumbo of Reading. The show is choreographed by Reading resident Sharyn Taitz. Music is directed by New Hampshire resident Dorothy Westwater and it is directed by Malden's Mary Ryan.

Tickets are $12 for adults and $10 for seniors and students and are available at the door or by calling (617) 241-0231.

"Romeo and Juliet"

Short Takes

William Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet starring Leonardo DiCaprio, Claire Danes, John Leguizamo, Harold Perrineau, Paul Rudd, Pete Postlethwaite, Paul Sorvino, Diane Venora, Brian Dennehy, Christina Pickles, Miriam Margolyes, M. Emmet Walsh. Directed by Baz Luhrmann. Screenplay by Craig Pearce, Luhrmann. Produced by Gabriella Martinelli, Luhrmann. Rated PG-13.

Someone call the culture police, because Director Baz Luhrmann has committed a serious crime against art.

Shakespeare's plays usually don't work when "modernized" or "improved" by ambitious directors. Last year's "Richard III," directed by Richard Loncraine, was a rare exception. Luhrmann's tale of star-crossed lovers is not.

In fact, it is so badly wrought that one can shed nary a tear for the doomed duo, as Luhrmann has squeezed the tragedy from this timeless play, reducing it to a laughable state.

The strange things is, he seemed to be on the right track. The action occurs in an other-world that's been culled from pop culture, retro-culture, classical literature, high fashion, old movies, futuristic science fiction, and the cult of violence. He replaced gunplay with swordplay and made the Capulets and Montagues into warring corporate factions whose children play out revenge dramas in the streets. And then Luhrmann lost control.

His actors scream, scenes become campy as he fast-forwards, and the first third of the film appears to be MTV outtakes. The action is not only confusing, but very, very, grating. The beauty of Shakespeare's dialogue is thrown away by actors who are not interacting. Of course, you have to look at their working conditions.

Luhrmann staged the famous balcony scene in a pool. The result is soggy and lifeless as the two young lovers flail about trying to stay afloat, mirroring much of the movie.

The cast is comprised of talented people, but the performances include strange accents, intense emoting and, in the case of Leonardo DiCaprio's disappointing Romeo, a weary somnolence. Academy Award-winner Pete Postlethwaite's Father Laurence is a drugged-out, tattooed, ex-hippie who is either lifeless or chewing up the scenery.

Luhrmann nods to Fellini in both a party scene and with Paul Sorvino's sputtering performance as the eldest Capulet. Tennessee Williams' unhappy southern belles are seen in Lady Capulet, dubbed Gloria for Luhrmann's purposes and stridently acted by Diane Venora.

The one shining performance is this travesty is Claire Danes as Juliet. She alone grasps the meaning of Shakespeare's words and expresses them with much grace. She glows with the love she feels for Romeo and squeezes out the only few drops of emotion that are to be had from this film.

Michael Collins' director Neil Jordan brings a melancholic poetry to this sweeping saga about one of the most heartbreaking and contentious segments of Irish history, ending in the bloody civil war of 1922. His actors, especially Liam Neeson as the haunted but resolute title character, infuse it with fiery conviction. Performances by Aidan Quinn, Stephen Rea and Alan Rickman are dynamic, adding much to this emotionally devastating but beautifully made film. That it is somewhat unwieldy and not as tightly focused as it could have been detracts only a little from its visceral impact. Rated R. *** 1/2

Dear God is a cute, little comedy in which a con man (Greg Kinnear) is forced by the courts to get a job, and finds himself in the post office's dead letter office. He thinks he's setting up a scam by answering "Dear God" letters, but naturally discovers he's a nice guy. There are some laughs, but Garry Marshall's direction is too shallow and reminiscent of a sit-com. The supporting cast, including Tim Conway and Laurie Metcalf, is very interesting. Rated PG. ** 1/2

Sleepers will envelope you with its harrowing story and stylish telling. Writer/director Barry Levinson closely followed Lorenzo Carcaterra's true story of friendship, loyalty and revenge, riveting us with his brilliant technique and the immensity of his cast's talents. Revenge may not be sweet, but it serves its purpose for four men coming to terms with their earlier torture and abuse at a New York reform school. This powerful, powerful story - one of the best this year - is enhanced by performances from Robert De Niro, Dustin Hoffman, Kevin Bacon, Jason Patric, Brad Pitt, and Minnie Driver. Rated R. ****

Big Night is one of those very rare films that should absolutely not be missed. A bittersweet story of two Italian brothers in the late 1950's, it definitely balances charming comedy with the heartbreak and reality of "the great American dream." Smaller themes of romance, brotherly love, independence, and artistic integrity are deftly woven into this skillfully made and memorable film. Expect great things from Stanley Tucci who co-wrote, co-directed, and stars as one on the brothers. However, do eat before you go, because this tribute to fine cuisine is too, too tempting. Rated R. ****

The Chamber is the most introspective and personal of the movies based on John Grisham's novels, but it never quite feels complete. Gene Hackman absorbs our attention as the Death Row Klansman who begins to regret his mistakes as the execution date approaches. Chris O'Donnell gives an economical performance as Hackman's latest lawyer, who is also a sadly haunted grandson. The problem is a consistent feeling that something is missing. You keep waiting for more details that never arrive, a little more closure, or even further info on the supporting players. Rated R. ***

Bill Staines at Linden Tree

On Saturday, November 16, The Linden Tree Coffeehouse invites one and all to take a glorious journey across the country and back again with songs and stories of life on the road and the sweetness of life back home with the ever talented and popular Bill Staines.

A performer for over 25 years, Staines is one of the most popular singers on the folk music circuit today, averaging 200 concerts a year. His original songs are a slice of America with many memorable choruses that draw his audience into participation that proves his famous refrain, "All god's critters got a place in the choir, some sing low and some sing higher."

Anyone not familiar with the music of Bill Staines is in for a special treat. His 18 recordings often are played on WERS, WGBH and WUMB. In addition a number of his songs recorded by other nationally known artists such as Nanci Griffith and Priscilla Herdman are frequently aired.

His flair extends to his quick wit and gentle humor and to the way he plays his guitar upside-down and left handed. Staines continues to drive over 65,000 miles a year, doing what he loves best, bringing music to people.

Opening the concert is the return engagement of another Linden Tree Bill, one of New England's funniest songwriters Bill Cud-dyer. Best known for "The Wellesley Song" about a failed romance, Cud-dyer wants people to laugh and then later while driving home think about what he sang.

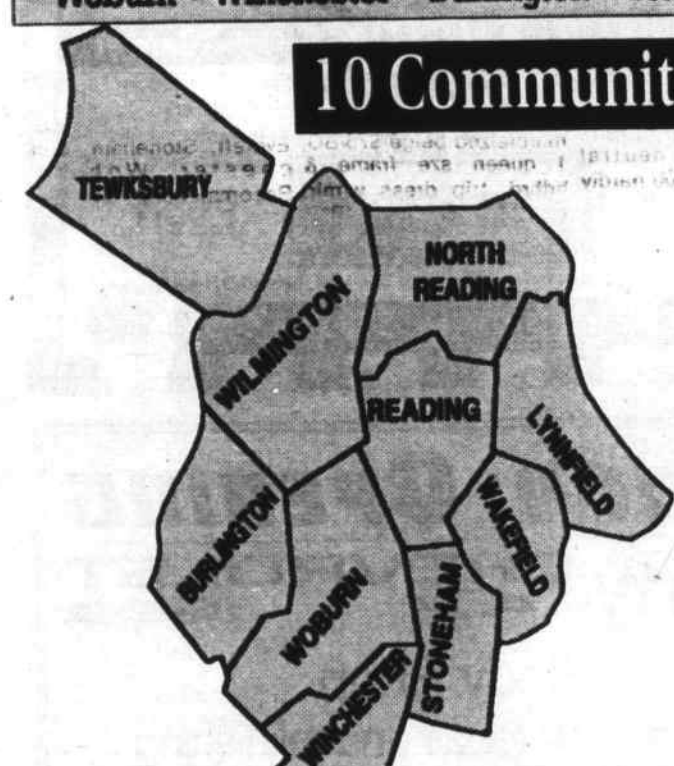

The Linden Tree Coffeehouse is located in the social hall of the Unitarian-Universalist Church, 326 Main Street, Wakefield. From 128, exit 40, following Main Street, about a mile. The show will begin at 8pm and tickets will be $10 at the door which will open at 7:30. Information: 617-246-2836.

Your Home: Q&A

Are there any special tips on winterizing my house?

Cool winter breezes slipping into the air remind us of last year's heavy winds, massive snowfalls and never-ending winter storms. While the harsh winter weather could be months away, what better time to get prepared? Preparing for winter early will save you time and money. Here are a few tips that can help you battle the winter chill and keep you warm and dry.

Winter Checklist

Caulk Around Windows, Door Frames and Baseboards. Winter home heating bills can increase due to escaping heat. Avoid this situation by using a white silicone caulking around your doors, windows and baseboards. Clear plastic film can also be melted over windows with a hair dryer to help stop drafts and prevent the inevitable frost build up. This simple task could save homeowners up to $500 throughout the season.

Check Attic and Basement Insulation. Insufficiently insulated attics and walls can cost a homeowner hundred of dollars in heating costs each winter.

There are generally two types of insulation; fiberglass and cellulose (chemically treated paper). Also, an attic blanket can help lock out the cold and keep your family warm.

Inspect Room Humidifiers. Make sure any humidifiers and space heaters you use are in good working order. Replace filters in humidifiers and refill the water often. Watch for fraying cords on space heaters and keep them away from flammable objects such as curtains, furniture and paper-filler wastebaskets.

Apply an Extra Coat of Waterproofing to Your Decks. Decks built with pressure-treated lumber need to be protected against water damage, which can ultimately cause black algae. With a roller or a brush, make sure to completely cover your deck area with sealant. Do this at or above an outdoor temperature of 50 degrees.

Invest in a Snowblower. Don't wait for 10 inches of snow to fall before purchasing a snowblower. Snowblowers are priced as low as $300. If you have a big driveway, a blower could turn out to be your best friend during heavy snowfalls.

Stock up on the Basics. Make sure you have an ample supply of ice-melt chemicals and sand hidden away. One of the most dangerous winter hazards is ice on walking areas. Have the proper materials to melt ice before it has the chance to build up. Also, check reserves of flashlight batteries, canned goods and bottled water in preparation for a snowy day or severe winter emergency.

Wrap Basement Pipes and Hot Water Heaters. This is one of the easiest and least expensive options that can save you hundreds of dollars in hot water expenses. Pipe bursting are one of the biggest causes of winter household flooding. It is a good idea to wrap your pipes and water heaters with special blankets. Prices for blankets start at $30. Pipe insulation can also be used. Insulation is cheap (approximately $2 a package) and easy to install.

Getting a head start on these winter projects can make the cold, brutal winter weather a warmer experience. Homeowners that prepare for winter often avoid unnecessary hazards and injuries.

Complete your winter check list now so you will have more time to play in the snow!
